1980

It was a beginning — a beginning of so many experiences and things to remember. A lot happened, but somehow we all made it through the year — a little older and a lot wiser. For some, the year was a time for graduation. For others, these halls will see our faces for another year. Nonetheless, it was a good year. It was a time of forming and strengthening friendships, taking strides academically, and improving as people.

This was . . .

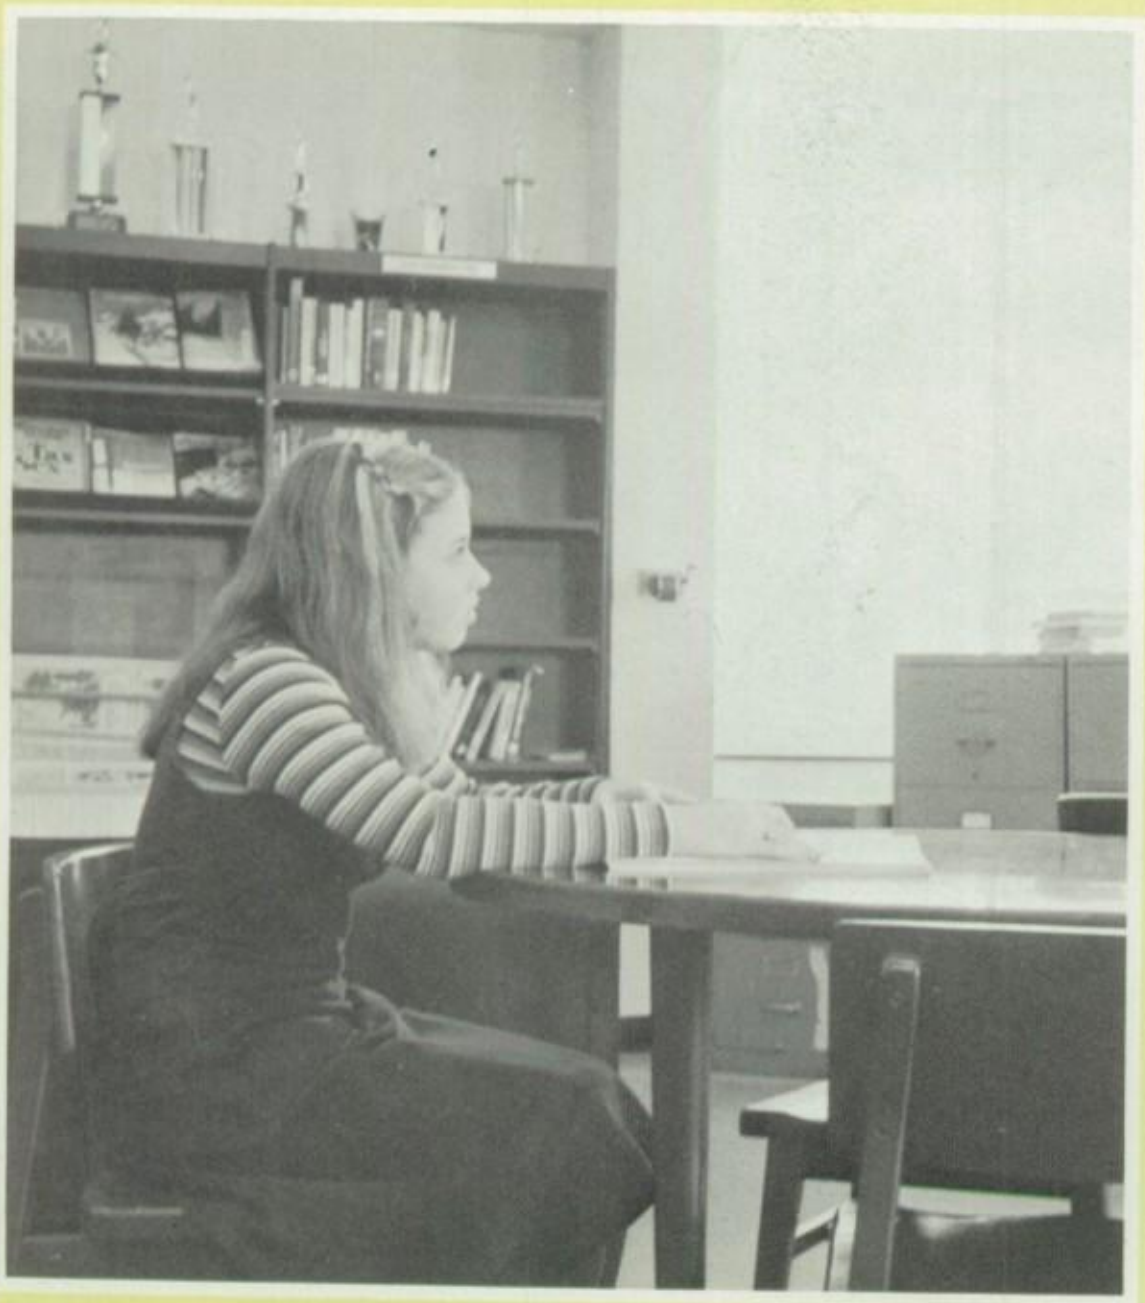
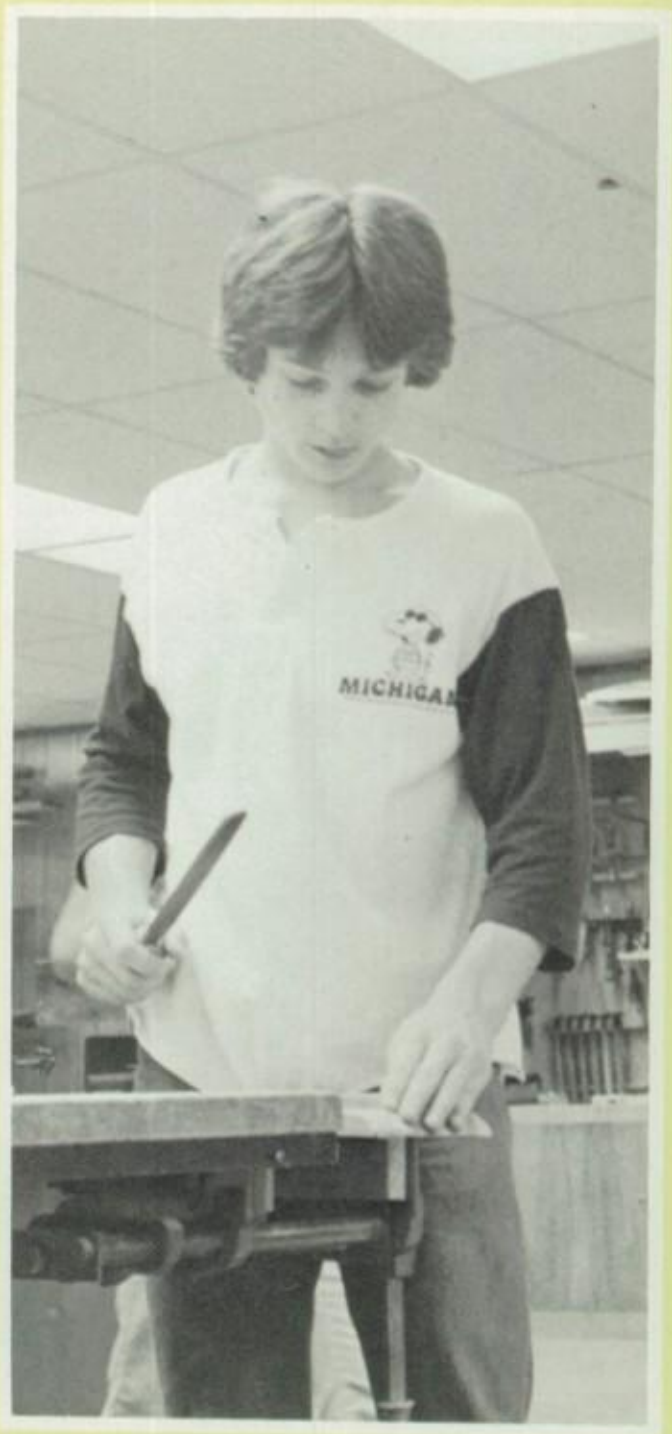
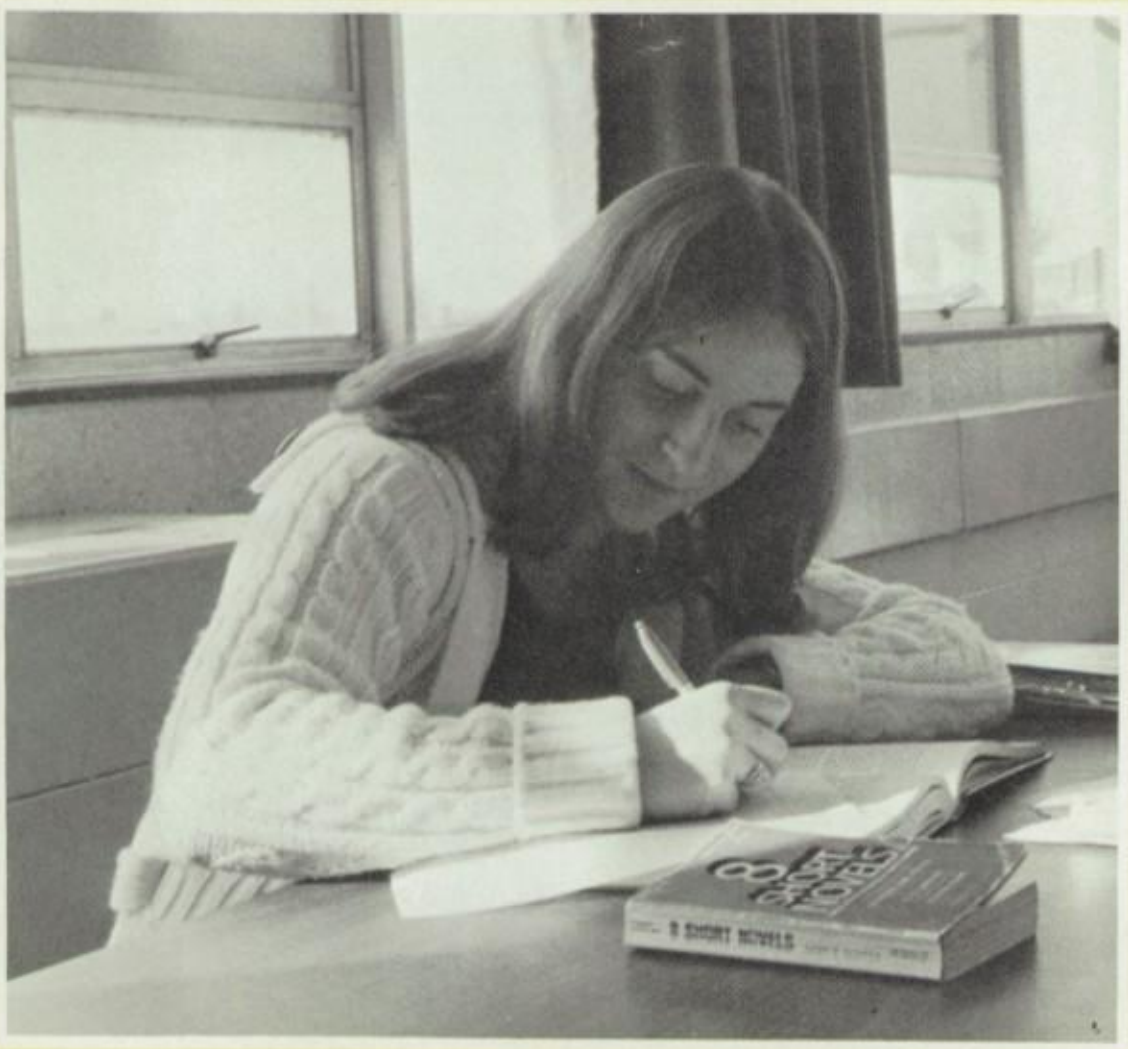
A Year For . . .



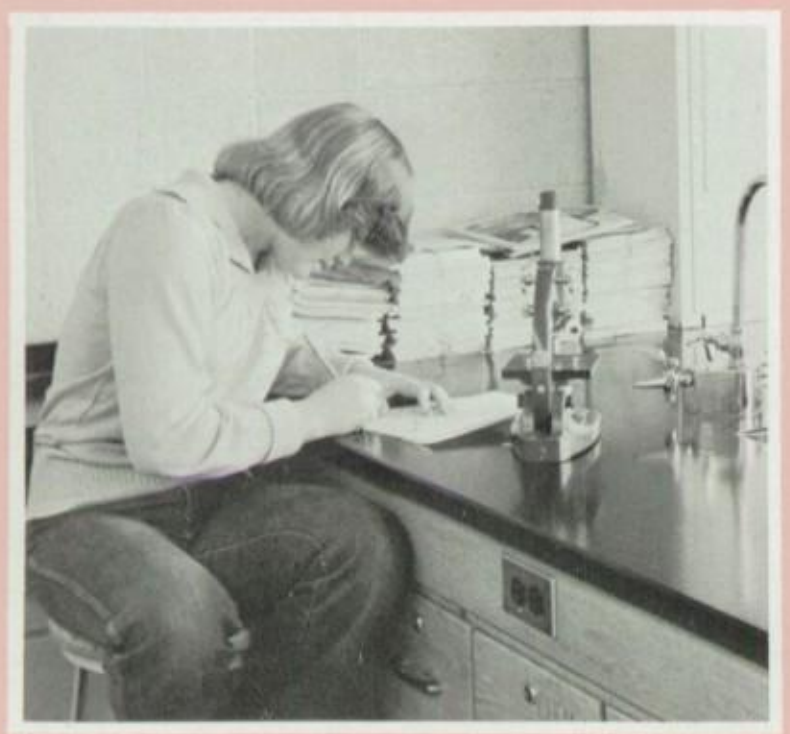


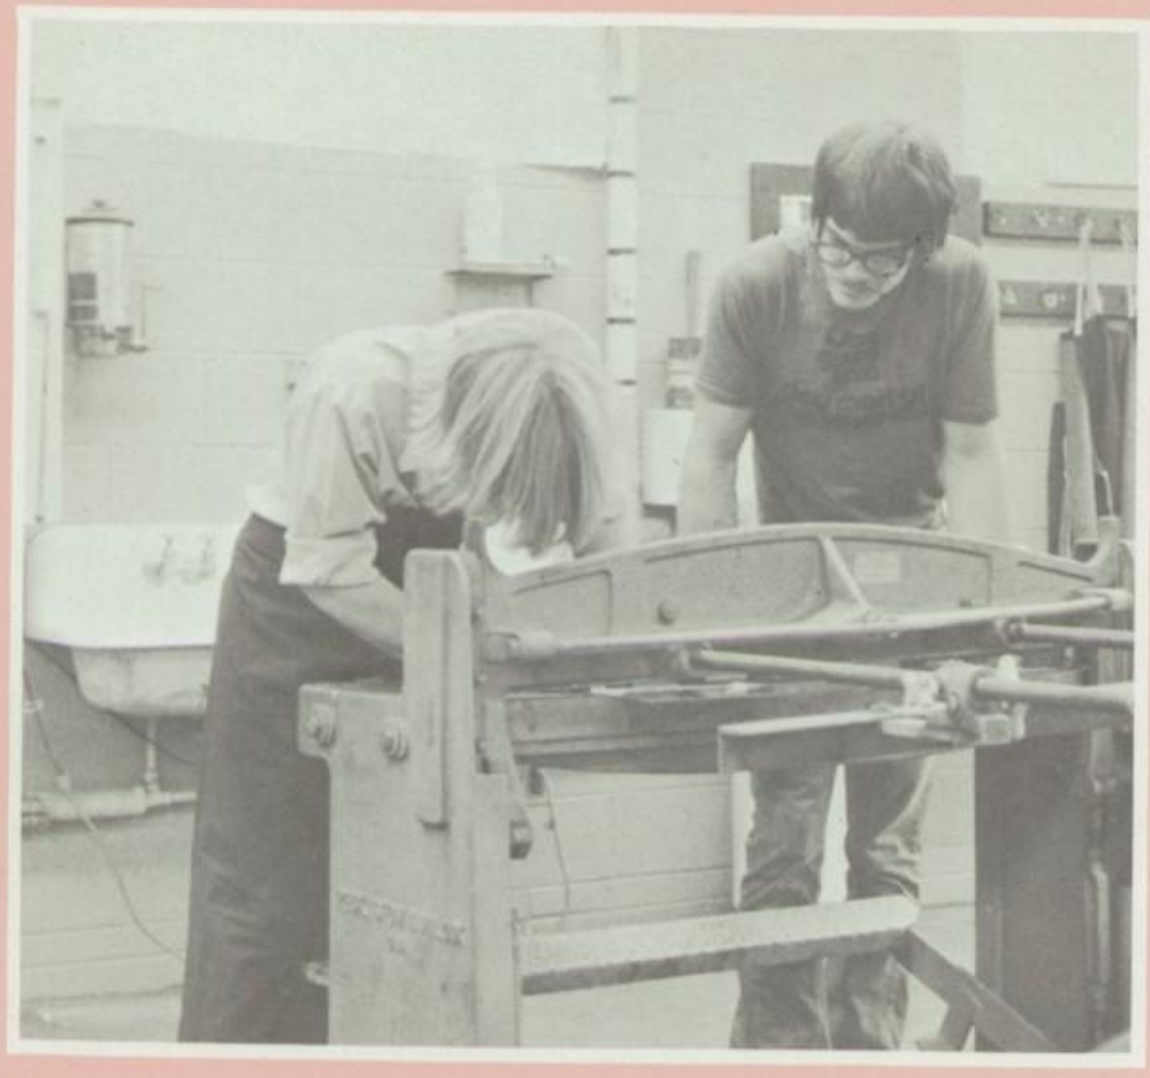
MICHIGAN



Getting To Know Ourselves

Amid the excitement of Homecoming, the involvement of classes, and the simple everyday bustle in the hallways, the year was also a time of getting away. Studying for tests, writing notes, or just taking time for some quiet reflection. Being by ourselves gave the year a new and fresh outlook. The quiet sounded good. The chance to evaluate where we've been and where we're going was time well spent.





Catching Up On Studies

It is said that the search for knowledge is never-ending. That surely seemed to be the case for most of us this year. We spent hours lost in books, peering through microscopes, working on projects, typing, and practicing band instruments. In short, we made great efforts to improve ourselves. No matter what our pursuits entailed, we can now look back and say it was all worthwhile.

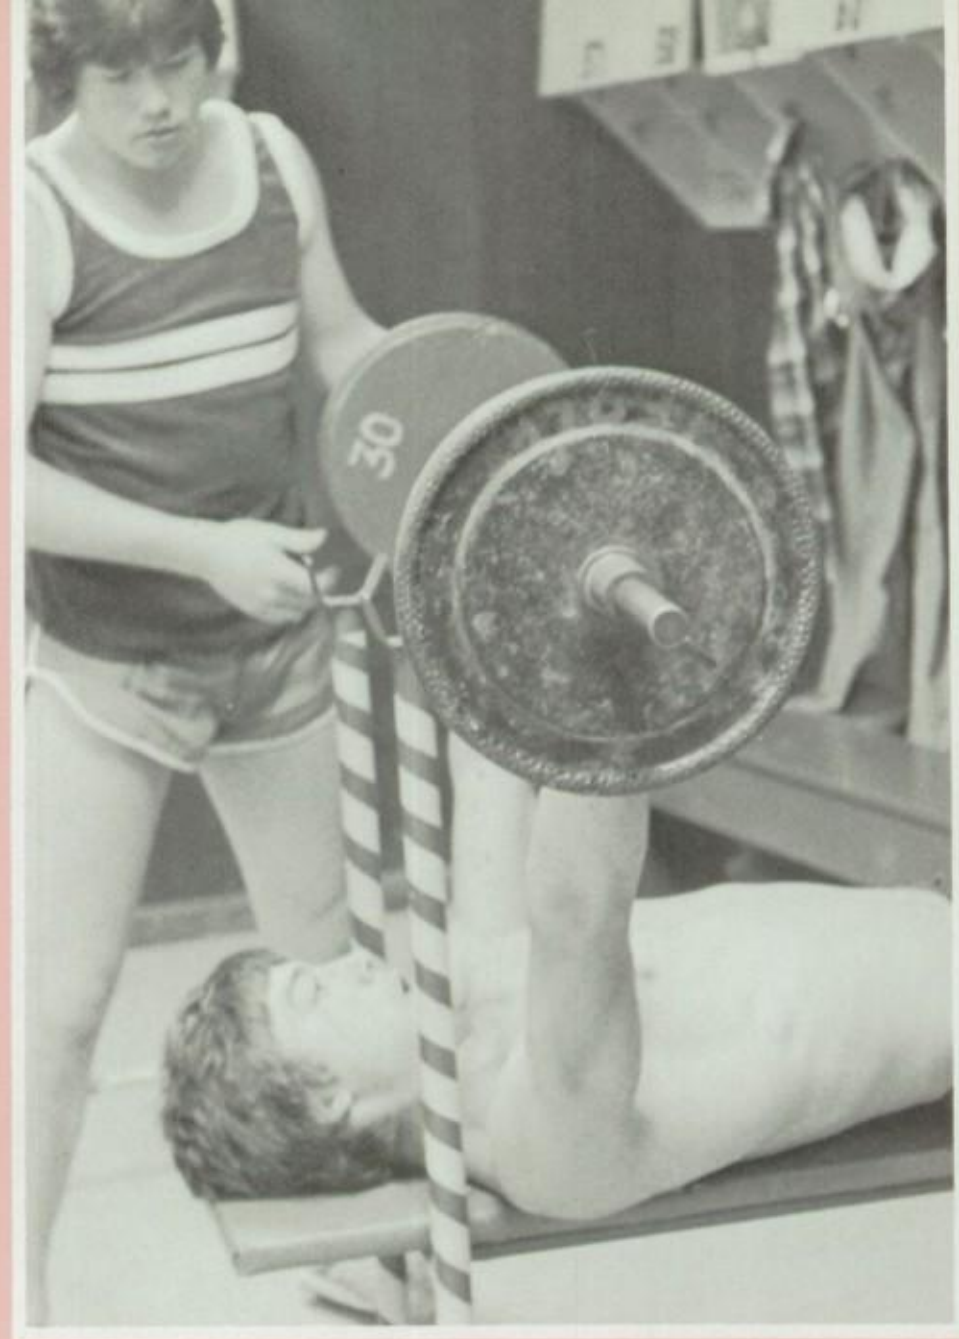
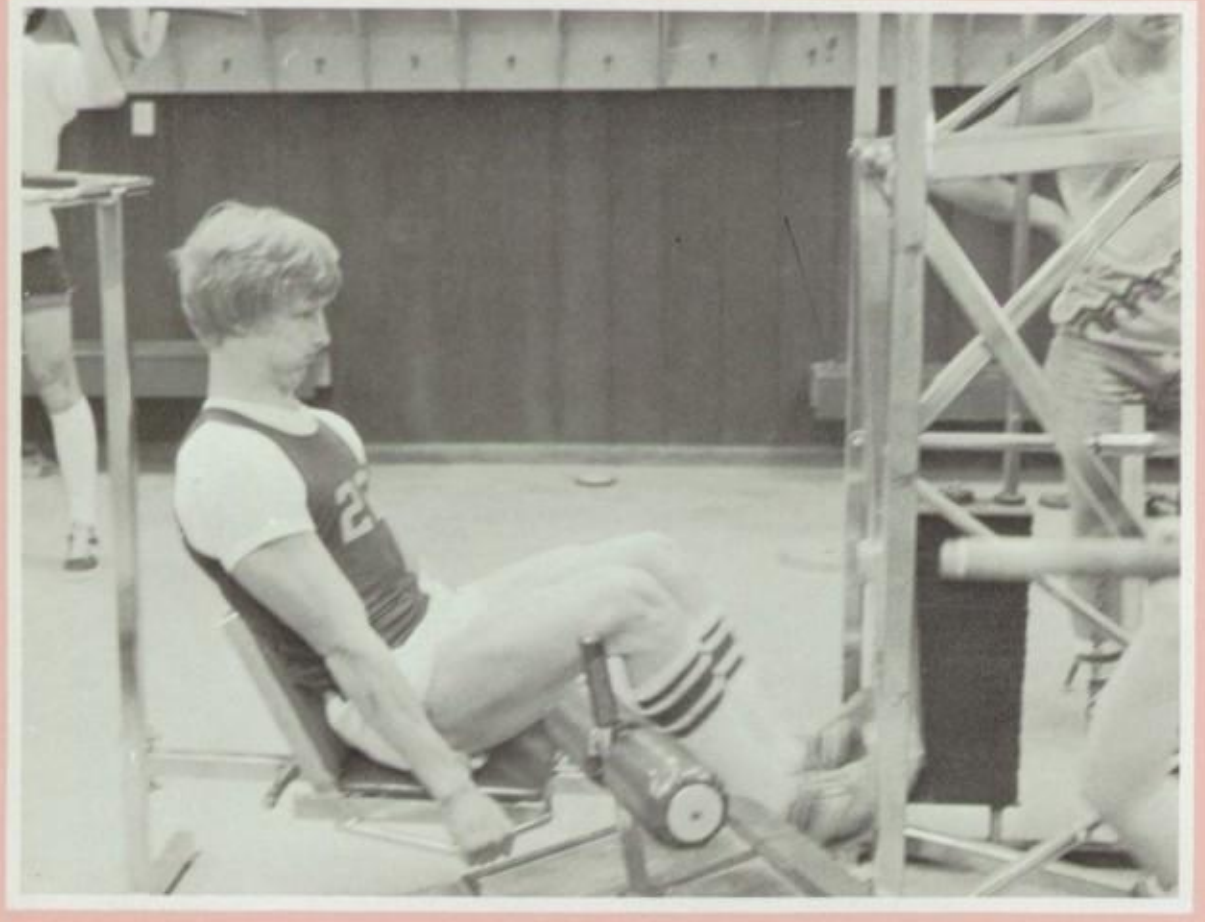
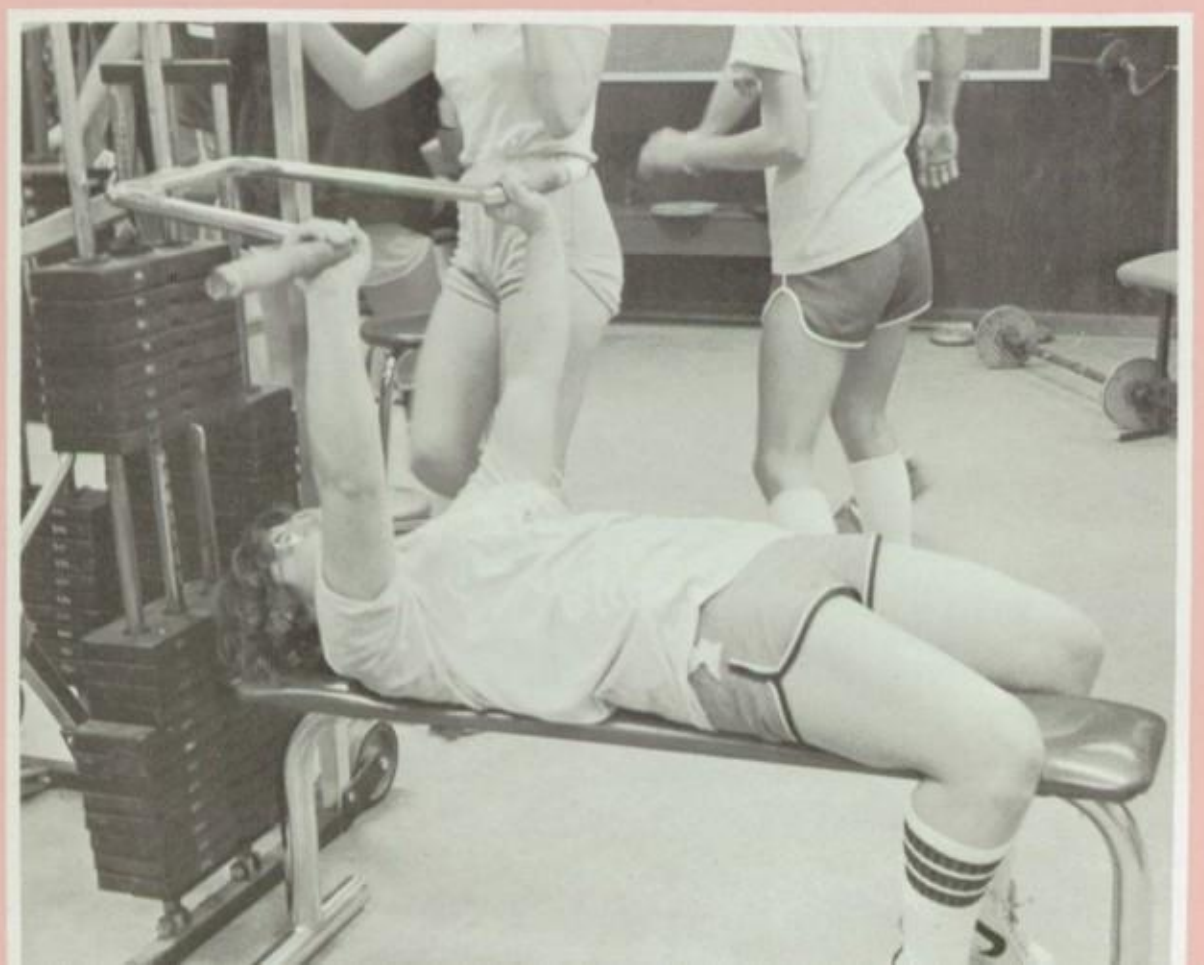
A Special Occasion

The year will be remembered for all the special happenings it contained. We'll especially recall the excitement of the Homecoming game and dance, the beauty and elegance of past kings and queens, the enthusiasm generated by Spirit Days and the color and creativity of the floats. Special times such as these seemed to happen all too infrequently. When they did, however, they were well worth it. And we can say we were there and a part of it.







Physical Expression

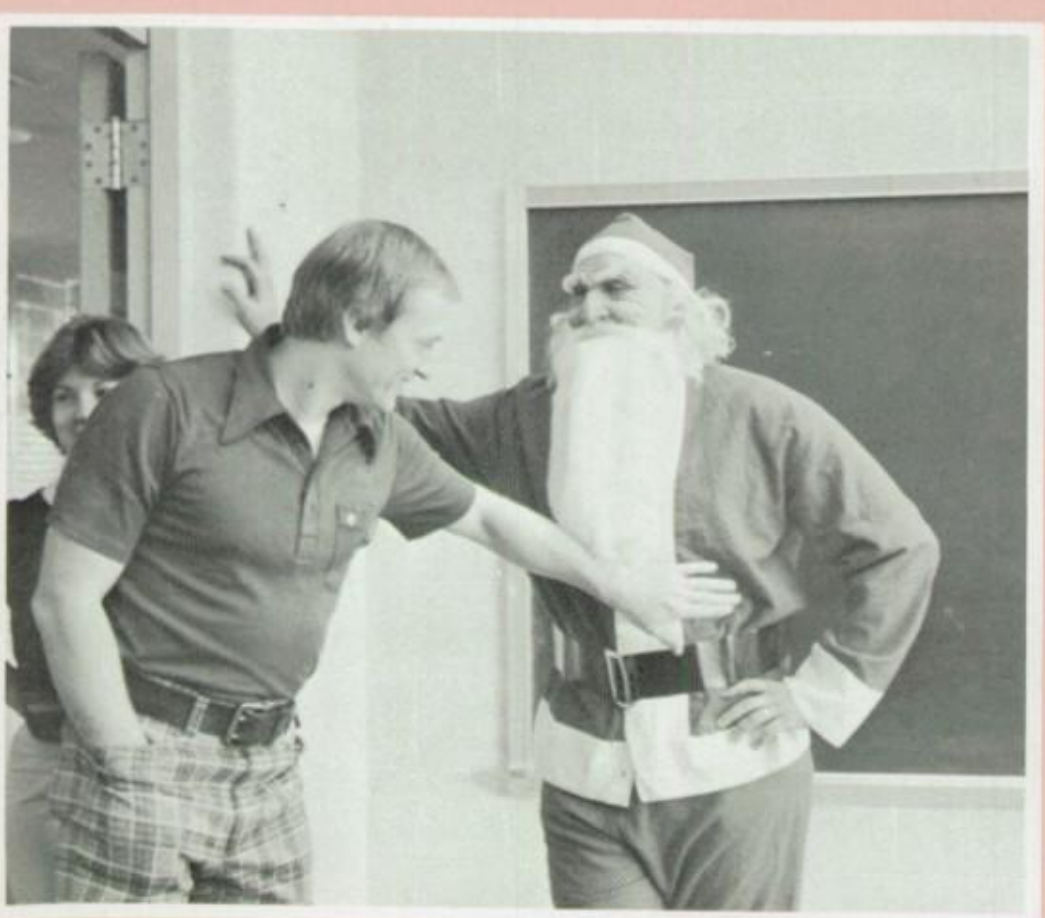
Of course, classes didn't consume all of our time during the year. We've always been noted for our athletic tradition, and not just on the varsity level. We ran, swung, hit, jumped and above all, tried. And just like in the classroom, we took some giant strides on the athletic field. It was indeed a year of accomplishment.

QUEEN CANDIDATE

Making Friends

For some, the year will have a very special meaning. For it will be remembered as more than being a part of a group. It will be remembered as an important time of sharing part of our lives with someone else. Perhaps that special moment didn't last. But even so, at least it felt good to share a moment with someone else — and to be welcomed into another person's life as well.

BALL



Rare Moments

It was those few unexpected moments of the year that broke up the monotony of our studies. They brought our spirits up when they were down, helped the day glide by a little easier, brought everyone closer together, and left us with a warm feeling in our hearts. Times like these didn't happen often, but when they did, the enjoyment was well worth remembering.

Showing Pirate Spirit

All of us had our different ideas and destinations, but when it came down to supporting our team, spirit was something we all could agree on. Spirit meant wearing blue and gold, dressing up for spirit days, making posters, having pep assemblies, and going to games to cheer the team on. No matter what the scoreboard read, we could honestly say "Pirates are No. 1", because of our sense of pride and great school spirit.

1980

As life goes on, we leave behind the special people that helped us prepare for the future. They shared their unending knowledge with us, gave us a strict word when necessary and an encouraging push forward when times were difficult. We learned from one another, strived and cheered together at school activities and all made it through the year much wiser. Understanding, involved and sometimes even "wild and crazy" describes these people. It was 1980 — a year for . . .

FACULTY

New Principal

In his eleventh year at P-W, Mr. Harry Peacock went from math teacher to the P-W principal. He found being principal more challenging and demanding than teaching classes. His goals for P-W are to provide positive leadership and to help make the school run smoothly and efficiently.

Mr. Peacock remembers the Class of 1980 as a very cooperative and congenial group. In his spare time he enjoys playing golf and cards, gardening and spending time with his family.

Keeping the office in order for Mr. Peacock is his secretary Mrs. Colleen Heiden.

Assisting Mr. Cotter is Mrs. Doreen Schafer, who's been his secretary for 9½ years.

Being counselor involves setting up schedules and vocational programs, giving information, and helping students with personal problems and college preparation. Taking on these responsibilities is Mr. James Cotter, who has been at P-W for 19 years. He says he enjoys what he's doing and his pet peeve is people who ask him when he's going to retire.

In his spare time, Mr. Cotter enjoys yard work, tennis and spending time at Houghton Lake. Friendly people and students who did well on tests is what Mr. Cotter remembers most about the Class of 1980.

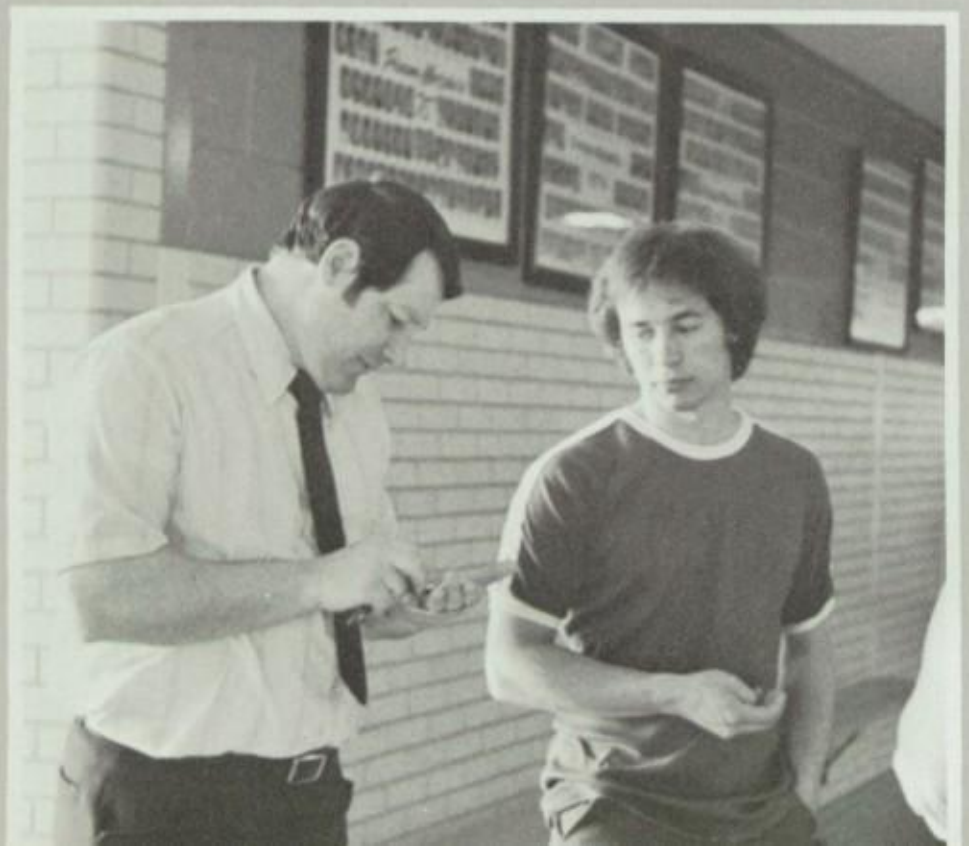
Joins Administration

Having completed his sixteenth year at P-W is Superintendent Roy Thelen. He serves as an executive officer of the Board of Education and has the responsibility of implementing all board policies.

Mr. Thelen believes P-W has an excellent curriculum for its size. He's afraid though, that as declining enrollments hit P-W the curriculum will have to be curtailed rather than expanded.

In his spare time, Mr. Thelen enjoys bowling and reading.

Assisting Mr. Thelen are his secretaries Mrs. Gerri Nurenberg, who's been with him eight years; Mrs. Bernie Thelen, for ten years; and Mrs. Karen Thelen, for five years.



Teachers Offer A Helping Hand

Miss Diane Andelin taught special education. Her job is to tutor students and to service their needs. Miss Andelin enjoys skiing, camping, reading and music.

Mrs. Gladys Rademacher helped in the resource room and library. She spends much time tracking down her family tree. Mrs. Rademacher likes to knit, read and bowl.

Miss Cindy Brown taught eighth grade English, junior and senior high reading. She coached the cheerleaders and girl's track. She enjoys reading, baking and all outdoor activities.

Miss Sally Kelly became a librarian because of her desire to be involved in students' education. In her second year at P-W, Miss Kelly would like to have more research materials.

English Department Gets Three New Teachers

Therese Savoie listens carefully to Mrs. Lampen

Mr. Rademacher explains an assignment.

Mr. Mark Rademacher taught mass media and freshman English his first year at P-W. In his spare time he enjoys fishing, jogging, and football. His face really turned red when an announcement over the PA called Mark Rademacher to the office, and when he went, he found they wanted the student Mark Rademacher. In the future, Mr. Rademacher plans to coach track and freshman football.

During Mrs. Louise Henretty's first year at P-W, she taught American novel, grammar improvement, American drama, advanced composition, science fiction and directed the school play. Mrs. Henretty's most embarrasing moment was when she backed over a wooden fence after taking a student home after play practice.

During her first year at P-W, Mrs. Esther Lampen taught sophomore English and basic composition. Mrs. Lampen enjoys trail skiing, reading, golfing, and being with her husband and two children.

Miss Paula Rehner taught speech, advanced speech and mass media. Miss Rehner is also involved in the Big Sister Organization. Her advice for the Class of 80 is, "Don't put off until tomorrow what you can do today."

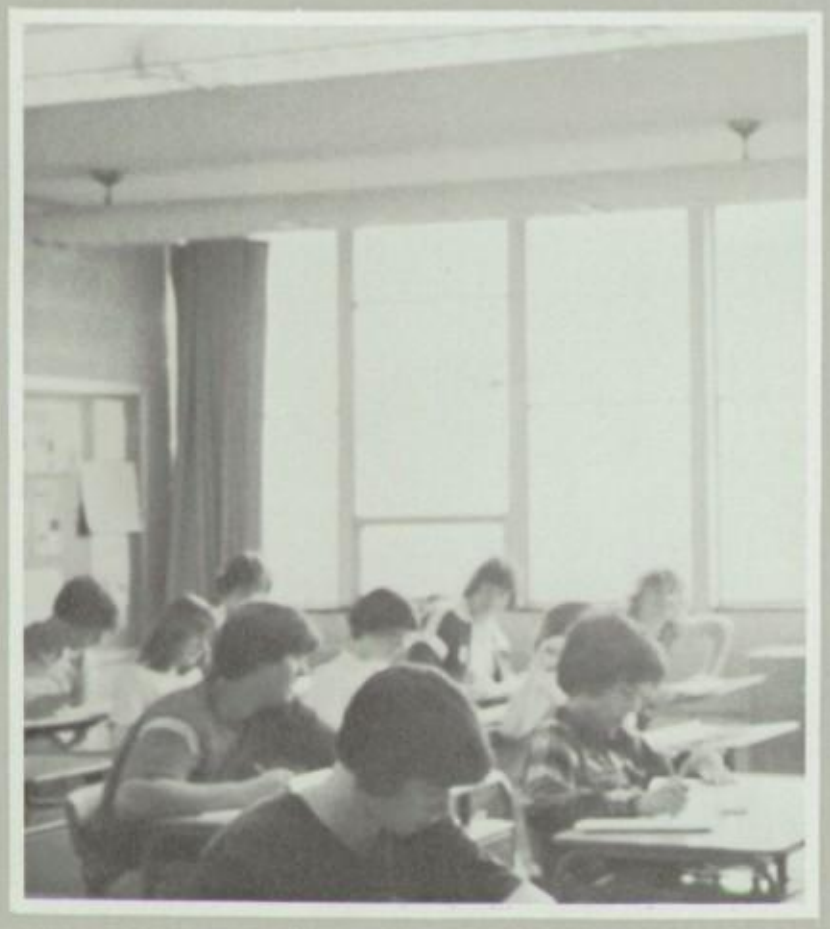
Business Is Their Business

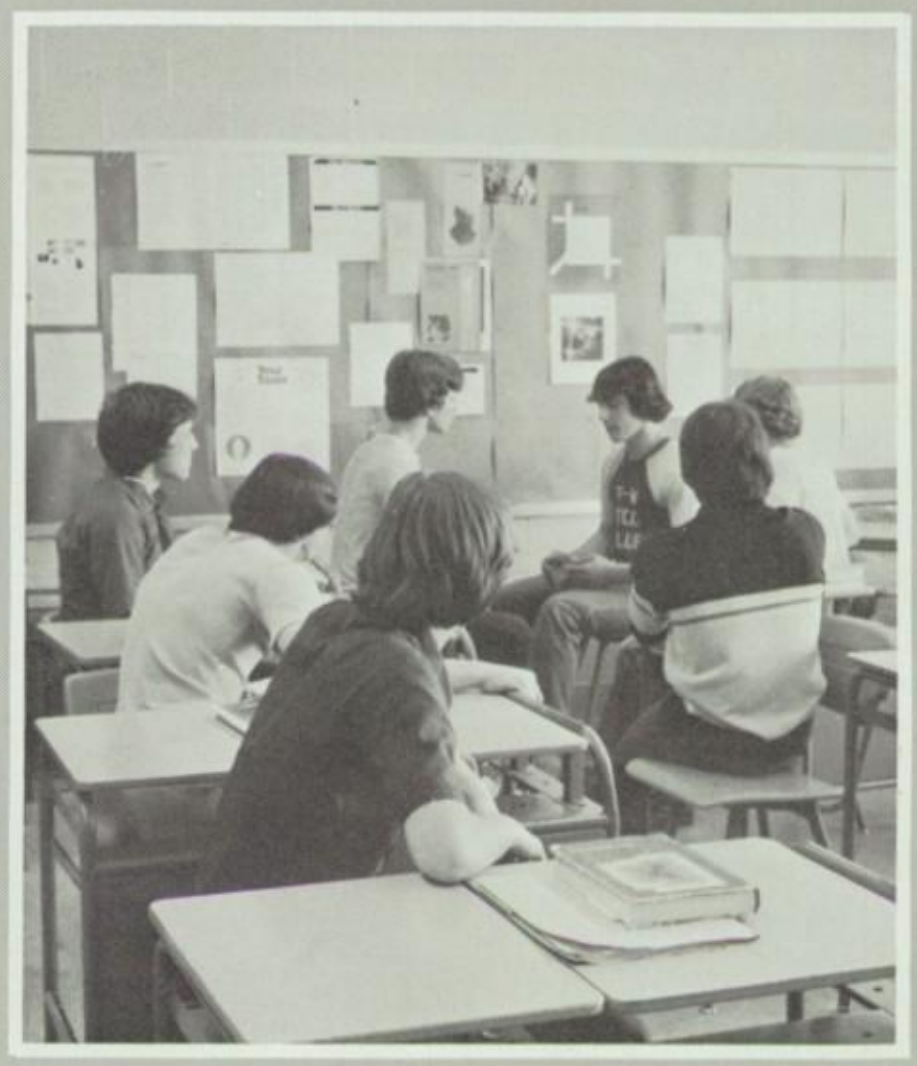
Mr. Ron Kramer taught Accounting I and II, record keeping and 7th grade English. Since being a student at P-W, Mr. Kramer feels the school has bettered itself by offering more classes and adding girls' sports. In his spare time Mr. Kramer likes hunting, fishing and all types of sports.

Miss Carol Bogard taught Typing I, journalism and supervised study hall. Her favorite class was Typing I. Miss Bogard also coached 7th and 8th grade basketball and jv and varsity volleyball. Miss Bogard enjoys racquetball, golf, swimming and backgammon in her spare time.

Mrs. Marsha Smith taught Shorthand I and II, office practice and secretarial office procedures. Mrs. Smith said she loves teaching at P-W but would like to see the school add more business classes. In her spare time Mrs. Smith likes to spend time with her family and golfing.

Integers, Binomials, Locus, Sine . . .





Mrs. Marilyn Huhn returned to P-W at the start of the second semester after giving birth to her first child Melinda. Mrs. Huhn taught pre-algebra, geometry and yearbook. Mrs. Huhn said she would like to see the school get a darkroom so they could develop their own pictures.

Mr. Richard Cooper started his first year at P-W by teaching general math, Algebra I and II and trig. Mr. Cooper also coached freshman football and jv baseball. Mr. Cooper would like to see the school get a baseball net for the gym.

Mrs. Julie Mackay taught 8th grade math, measurements, Algebra I and German I and II. She has been at P-W for six years. In her spare time Mrs. Mackay enjoys swimming, skiing, golf, tennis, reading and crocheting.

Eat Right And Exercise

Mr. Joseph Ghiardi taught physical education and coached football. The goal he wishes to see his students meet is top level physical fitness. During his free time, Mr. Ghiardi enjoys golf.

Mrs. Nancy Kreider has taught at P-W for five years. This past year she taught seventh, ninth and tenth grade physical education, along with a health and science class. Mrs. Kreider enjoys aerobic dancing, jogging, tennis and racquetball.

Last year Miss Bonnie Somero became the school's new Athletic Director. Miss Somero graduated from Northern Michigan University where she majored in physical education. At NMU, Miss Somero participated in intramural field hockey and basketball and now is a certified skin diver.

Learning to cook and sew are a few of the courses Miss Diane Sinko teaches. She also teaches child development and home and family living, giving students an opportunity to learn to decorate and budget for their own homes. Miss Sinko enjoys all types of sports.

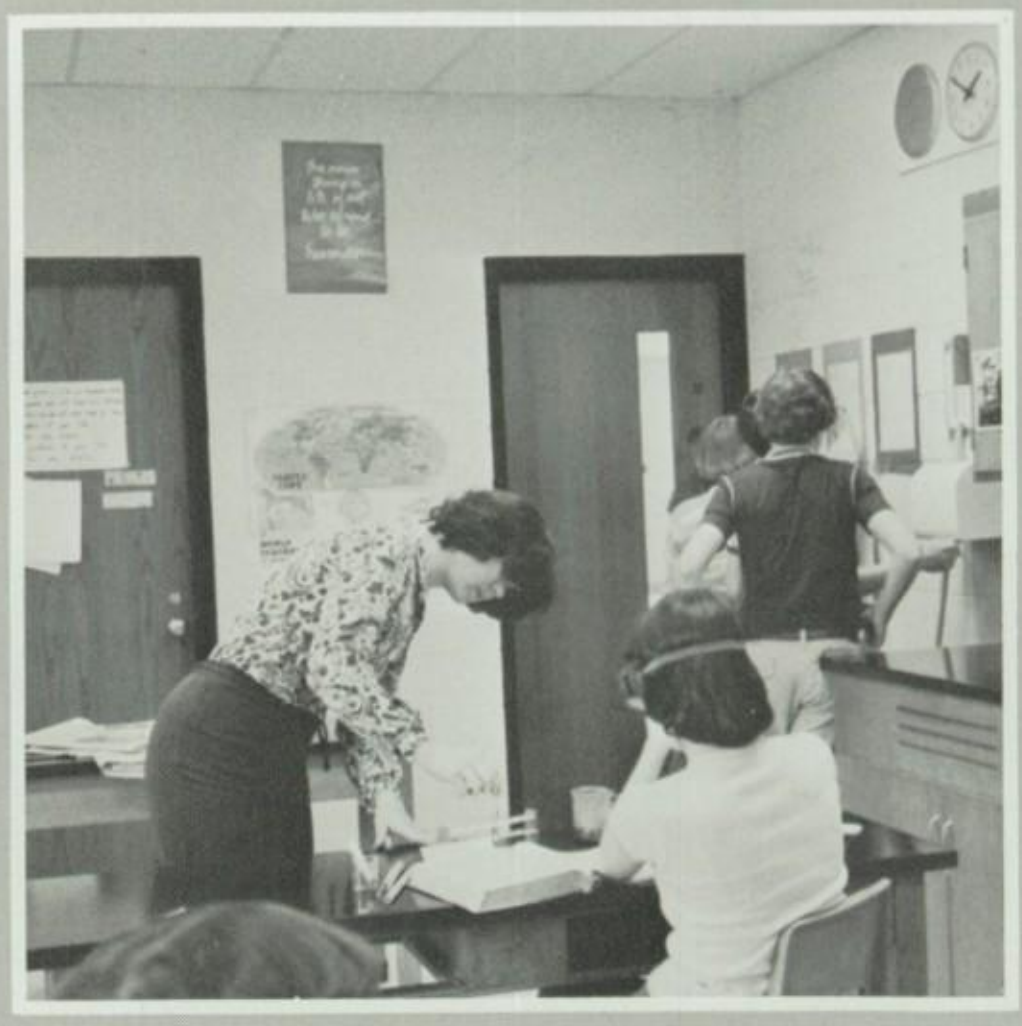
Art And Music Help Students Improve Their Talents

In her sixth year at P-W, Mrs. Judy Croisant taught Art I through IV along with seventh grade art. She enjoys weaving as well as camping. In the future, Mrs. Croisant plans to open her own craft shop.

Mr. Frank Ehrhardt has taught here at P-W for eight years. Mr. Ehrhardt would like to see his students get a One at the District and State Festivals and to have the best marching band that the students can produce.

Mr. Szyperski has been at P-W for three years; two years teaching and one year assistant to Mr. Ehrhardt. He taught junior high band and Pirateers competition color guard. On weekends and during the summer, Mr. Szyperski drives for Indian Trails bus lines.

Experimenting With Nature

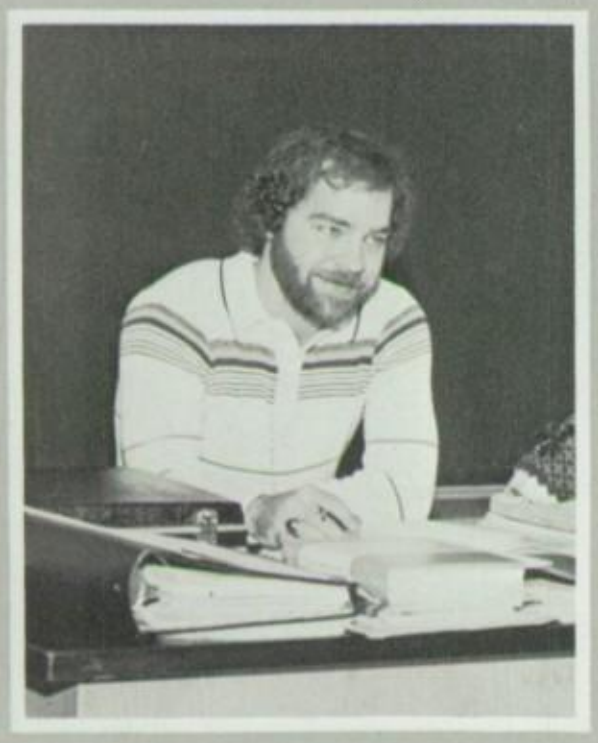


P-W Science classes involve developing the knowledge of nature and the physical world around us.

Earth and dairy science and genetics are what students focused on in classes taught by Mr. John Pohl.

A natural science that deals with matter and energy and their interactions in the fields of mechanics, heat, electricity and other systems describes what Miss Judy Olen teaches in her physics class.

Doing experiments, learning chemical shorthand and dissecting pigs, cats and other specimens are all a part of Mr. Craig Wilson's classes.



Teaching freshman science and agriculture were Mr. Pohl's duties. A graduate of Fowler High School, he attended MSU, majoring in agricultural business. Mr. Pohl would like to expand the science program and see FFA added to the curriculum.

Physical and junior high science were taught by Miss Olen in the 1979-80 school year. Miss Olen has reached a goal she had set in her life and that was to write a book, which she has completed. She now hopes to get it published.

General and advanced biology and chemistry was taught by Mr. Wilson. He would someday like to see an advanced chemistry class added to the P-W curriculum. In his spare time, Mr. Wilson enjoys reading and creatively drawing "Al Chemy's."

Two Men Teach Past And Present

U.S. and world history involve the study of the past cultures of America and other countries. In government class, students learn how the United States functions as a country, and its relationship with other governments around the world. These social studies classes prepare the students to accept the world around them, and to live as citizens in America.

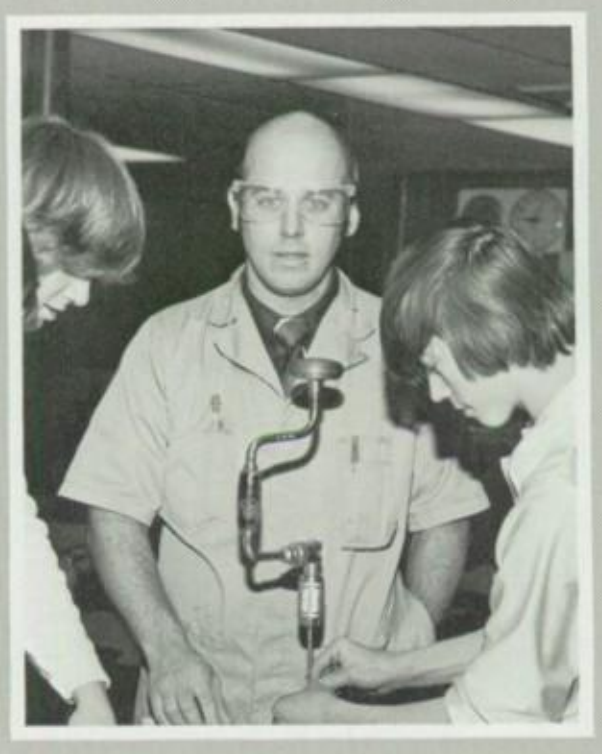
Mr. Michael Folk was in his eighth year at P-W. He added a few new classes to his teaching ability. Other than government, Mr. Folk taught Current Events and Lifetime Fitness. He wishes his government classes to be aware of the law and know their rights as consumers. He would also like his students to have a basic knowledge of government and the desire to get involved in it. For his pastime Mr. Folk enjoys sports and building.

As a teacher of U.S. and World History, Mr. Sam Smith would like students to find something in history they enjoy, or find interesting. He thinks an economics class would be a good addition to the curriculum. One of Mr. Smith's personal goals is to get a 35 on the back 9 at the Portland Country Club. His advice to the class of 1980 is to just "be yourself."

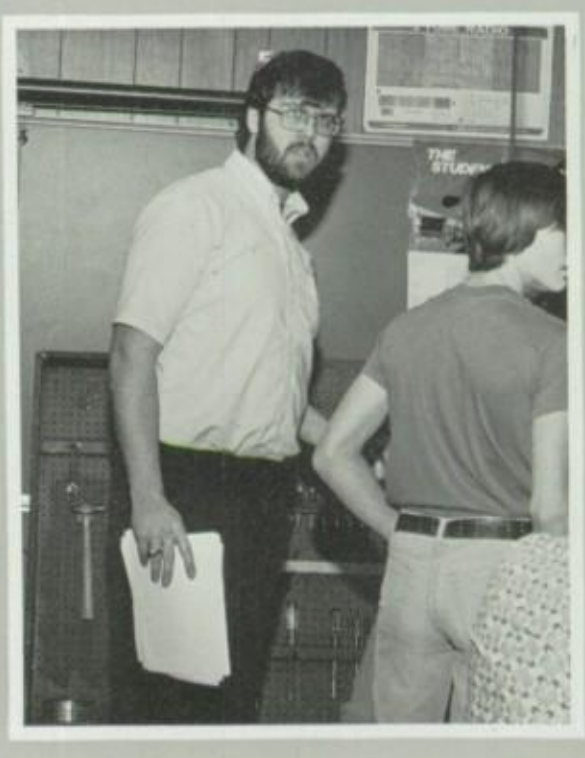
Creative Technology At Work

Industrial arts this year included several different courses. Metal shop showed students how to weld and work with metal materials. Wood shop allowed them to create a number of things out of woods. Drafting and electrical techniques were presented to classes also. Overall, the industrial department was a vital and creative part of the P-W curriculum.

"I love it", was Mr. Kurt Mabie's answer as to how he likes teaching at P-W. Mr. Mabie has taught Metals I-IV and seventh grade drafting for two years now. The Ferris State graduate spends his spare time with his wife and two children.



In his thirteenth year at P-W, Mr. William Marks taught Wood Shop I-IV. He lives in the Portland area with his wife and two children, Chip and Mandy. Mr. Marks participates in hobbies such as golf, reading and outdoor work.



Mr. Keith Norick taught Drafting I, II, III and IV, and Electronics I and II this year. He said he liked teaching Drafting III the most. Mr. Norick thought all his students learned more than he expected them to. One class he would like to see added next year is advanced foosball.

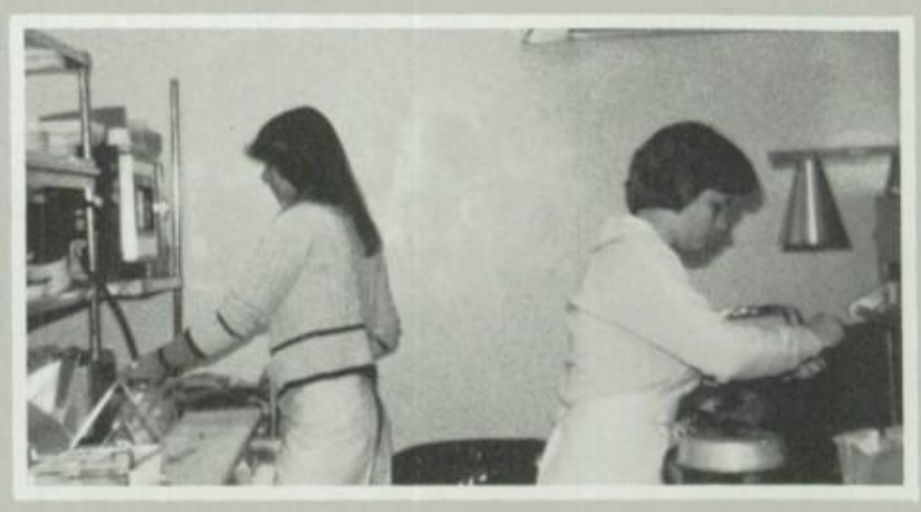
This year the Building Trades class constructed a ranch style house. The twenty students who made up the Building Trades I and II classes learned overall building of a house including the electrical and plumbing aspects. This year's house was sold before it was completed.

The Food Services course offers students the chance to learn how to prepare and serve food to the public. Upon completion the students are fully trained for jobs as cooks or waitresses.



Vocational Education: Something To Get Vocal About!

We can rebuild her!

Six girls were involved in Cosmetology this year. They learned how to apply makeup and to style hair to make people look their best.

What a dipstick!

The seventeen students who attended Auto Mechanics I and II learned how to repair and tune cars. They also learned about the components of brakes, transmissions and electrical systems.

1980

With spring came the bittersweet time of graduation. For all of us, the year will be remembered for its many good times and achievements. The low points will be forgotten. In the years to come, we'll look back on it as a special time that meant so much and can never be recaptured. Being with friends made it all the more enjoyable. The people we knew, the laughter and tears we shared are all memories of this year. We came from many places and we are undoubtedly headed in many different directions. This was our year — 1980 — a time for . . .

1980 was the year for the seniors to find their pot of gold. Throughout the years, the class was successful in many endeavors. Among these was the pizza sale to raise money for the senior trip to Cedar Point. The class was grateful to Miss Costello for all her assistance.

Miss Darlene Costello helped keep the Senior Class organized.

DA, WHAT YOU SAY?

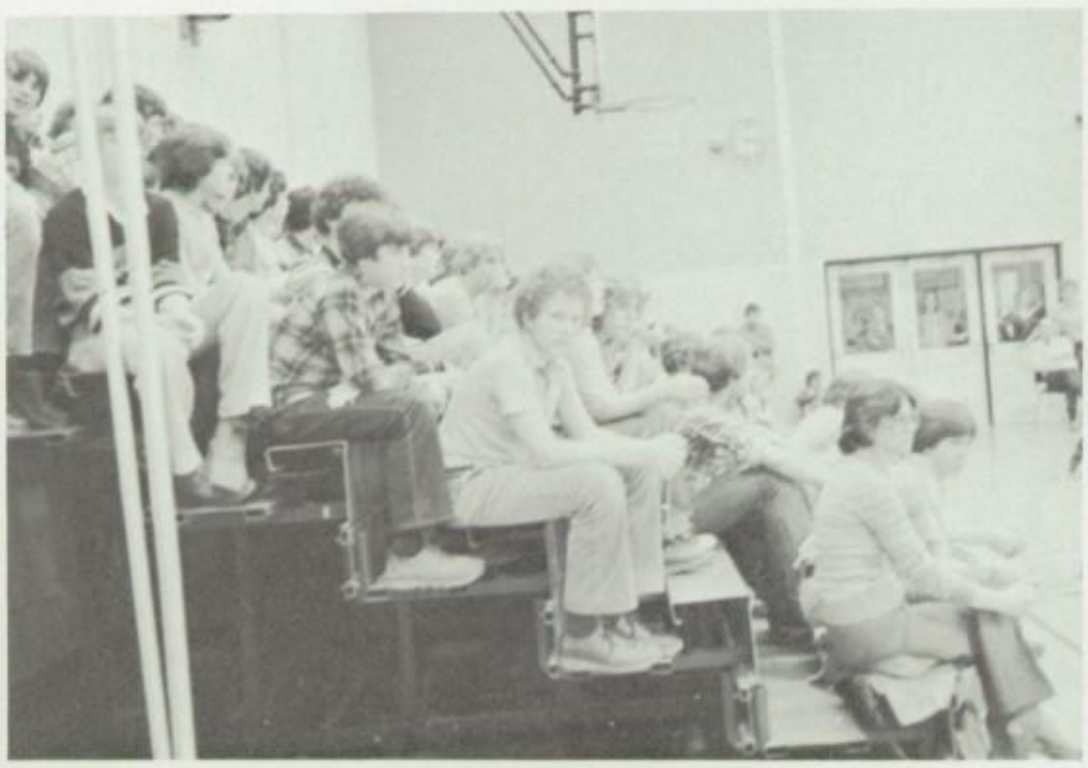
Underclassmen Moving Up

I doubt it!

Come join the party.

Are you kidding me?

Oh, I'm sure!!



Did you see that?

Jump! I'll catch you!!

1980

Each of us enjoyed our individual experience, but there were times when we all came together to share those special events.

Being Freshmen gave us the opportunity to be a part of high school activities. "Having wheels" for the first time on a Friday night and cruisin' through town gave us a feeling of importance. As Juniors and Seniors, we gathered for the magic moments of prom night and the special closeness of Junior-Senior Banquet. Graduation was a time for smiles, tears and final goodbyes to the 1980 graduates.

No matter what the event, we were all glad to be a part of . . .

STUDENT LIFE

A Night Seniors Will Remember!

The theme of the 1979 Homecoming was Albums. The Senior Class chose the album Toys in the Attic. The 1980 Seniors all put their best efforts forth and came through with a first-place win, as they did the previous two years.

Senior representatives and escorts: Marsha Smith and Tim Nurenberg, Rita Lenneman and Mark Schrauben, Gail Bengel and Scott Thelen, Norma Fedewa and Tim Bengal.

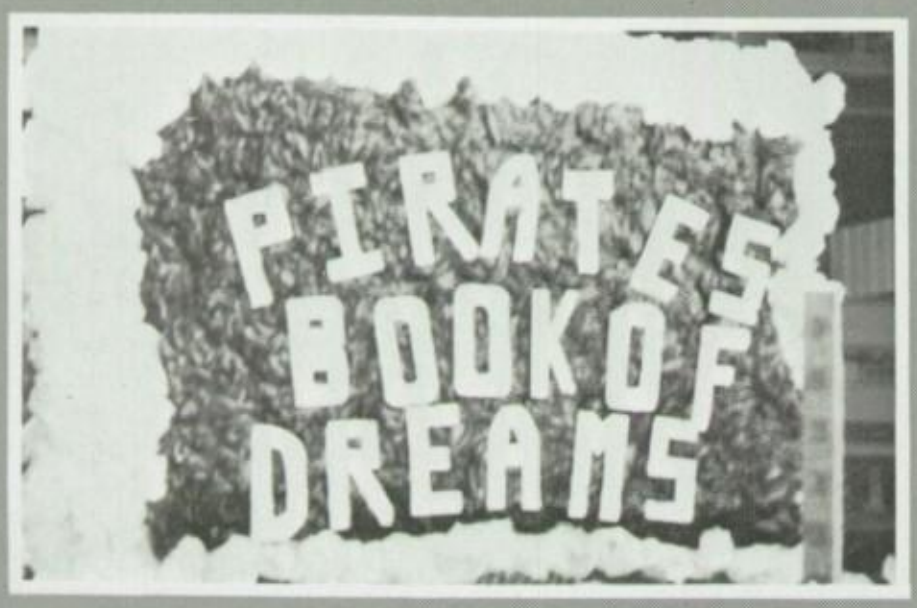
Juniors Add To The Excitement!

The Juniors placed second in the 1979 Homecoming with their float, Point of No Return. The Juniors put their talents together and made a beautiful float of blue, yellow, and orange flowers. The chalk work added a lot of class, and the brown rope was the finishing touch.

Junior representatives and their escorts: Sandy Thelen and Charlie Thelen, Marilyn Smith and Doug R. Schafer, Donna Thelen and Gerry Schneider, Therese Simon and Chris Thelen.

Sophomore Dreams

The 1979-80 Sophomore Class came in third place with their Homecoming float "Book of Dreams," made of purple and white flowers. Pencil shading and chalk work made a mirror image of the album cover.



When Bev talks, everyone listens!

Fly Forth, Freshmen

You've got to be kidding

Say Cheese!

The Freshman Class chose the album "Fly By Night," for their first Homecoming float. They chose to decorate their float in a variety of colors, making their sailing ship and pirate face really stand out.

My back side is much better than my front.

Freshman Representatives: Kay Kavanagh and Todd Thelen, Mary Jo Walter and Kevin Klein, Julie Nurenberg and Bill Keilen, Janell Fedewa and Paul Simon

Dance And Spirit Week

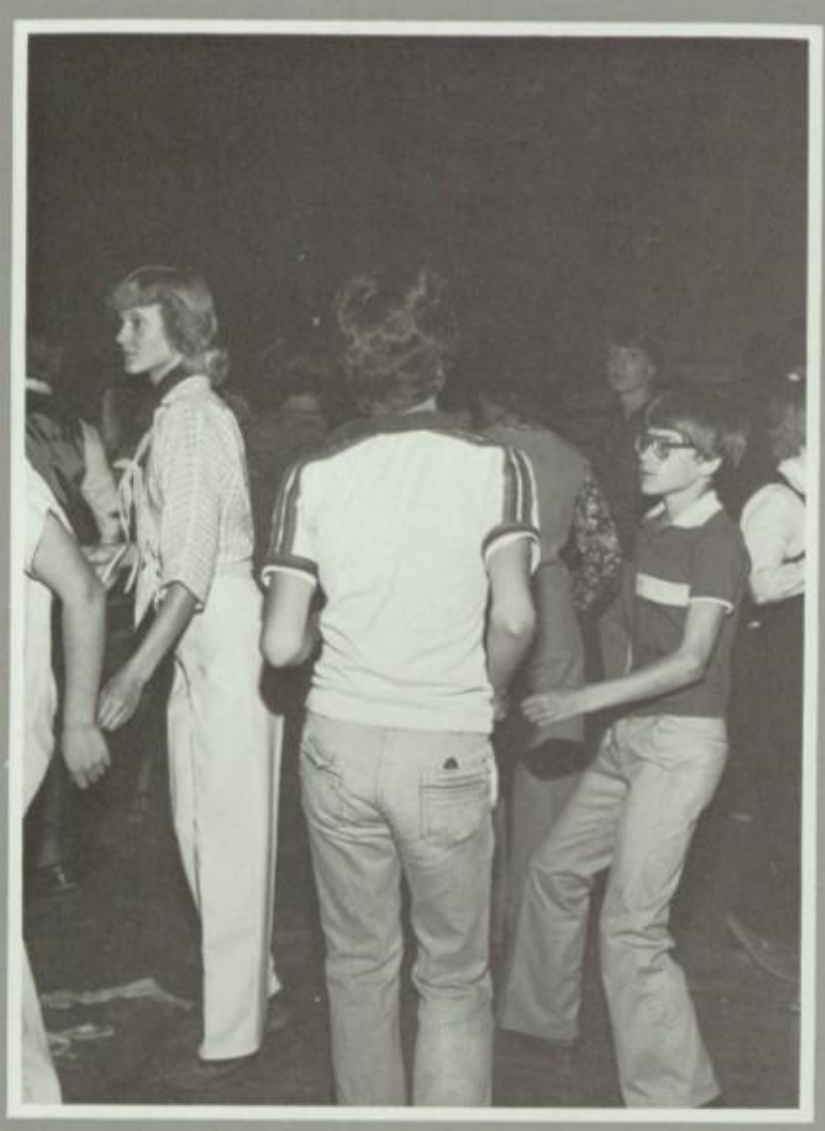
Add To Homecoming Excitement

Straight Light provided the music

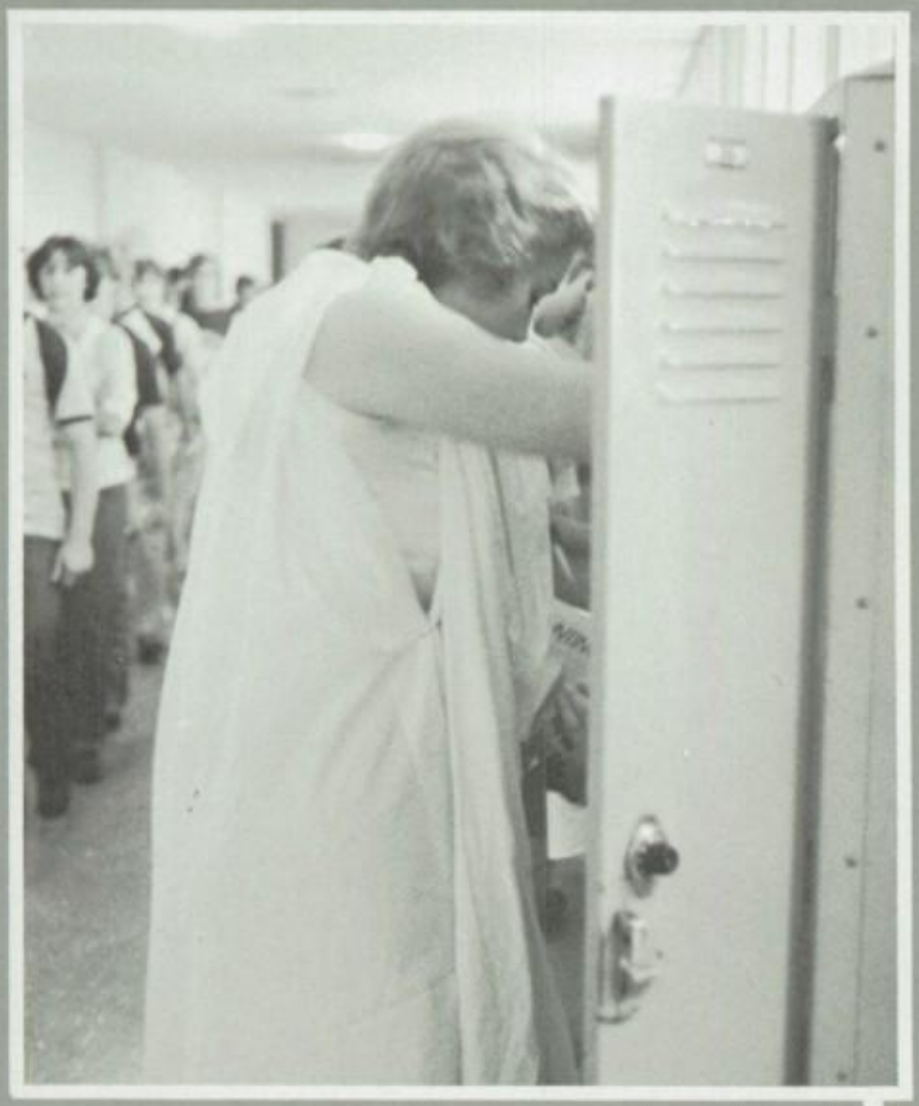
Two Spirit Days led up to Homecoming night. The first day chosen this year was Backwards Day, where students wore their clothes backwards. The second was Blue-Gold Day, and the school colors were worn. Student Council sponsored the Homecoming dance and a large crowd turned out.



Hey, Mikey, do you like dancing as much as Life Cereal?

The music had everyone rocking with the beat.

Senior Week Brings Graduates Closer



Toga, Toga, Toga

During Senior Week the seniors had a dress-up day, blue and gold day, cap day, teacher appreciation day, toga hour and a senior lunch. Also, during the last week seniors spent lunch hours together, taking pictures and talking about future plans and graduation parties.

Sophomores Win Almost Anything Goes

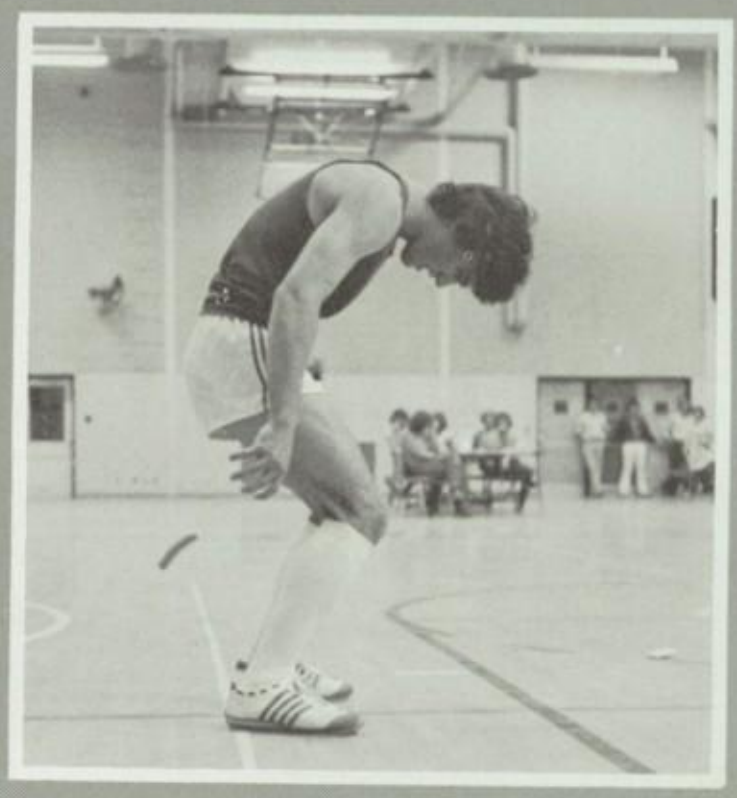
Laying down on the job again, Mr. Folk?

I want some, too

Stuff it

The annual Almost Anything Goes was held on Friday, May 16. Events included a Coke-a-Cola guzzling contest, a pie-eating contest, a barrel roll, a hot dog trap snapping contest and a marshmallow stuff.

M-M-M-good



Catch it, Kub!

A Magic Moment

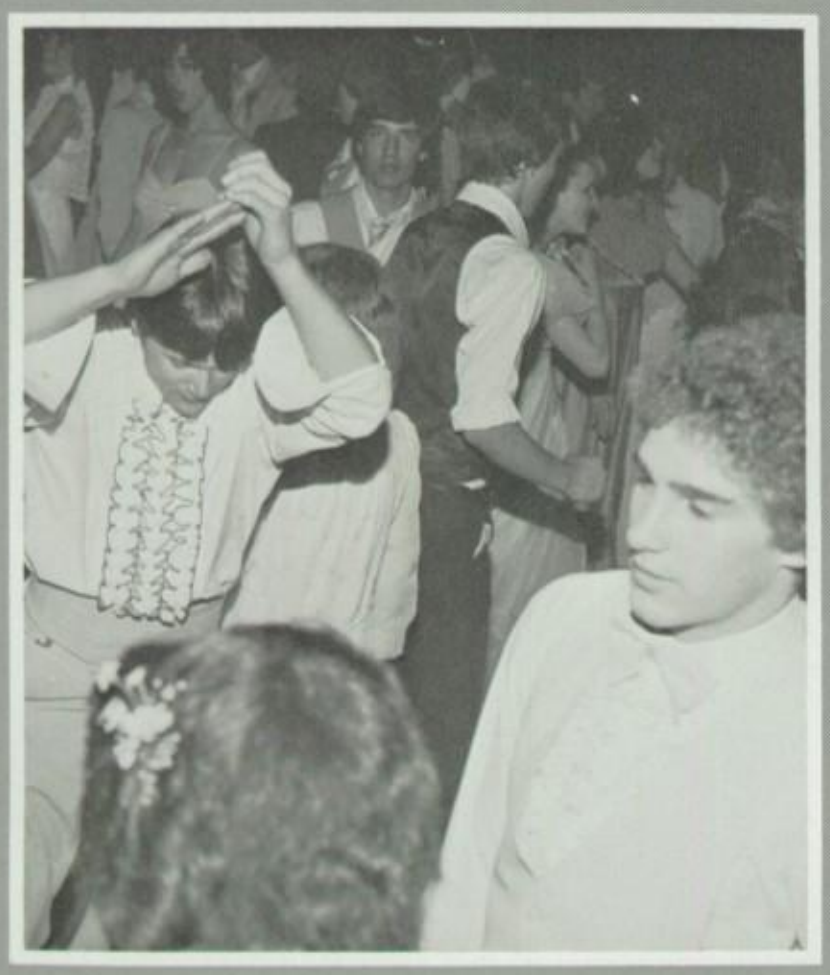
On Saturday evening May 10, 1980, the junior class presented the prom at the Royal Scott Inn. The theme was Freebird. Music was by the band Vision. Approximately eighty couples attended the prom this year.

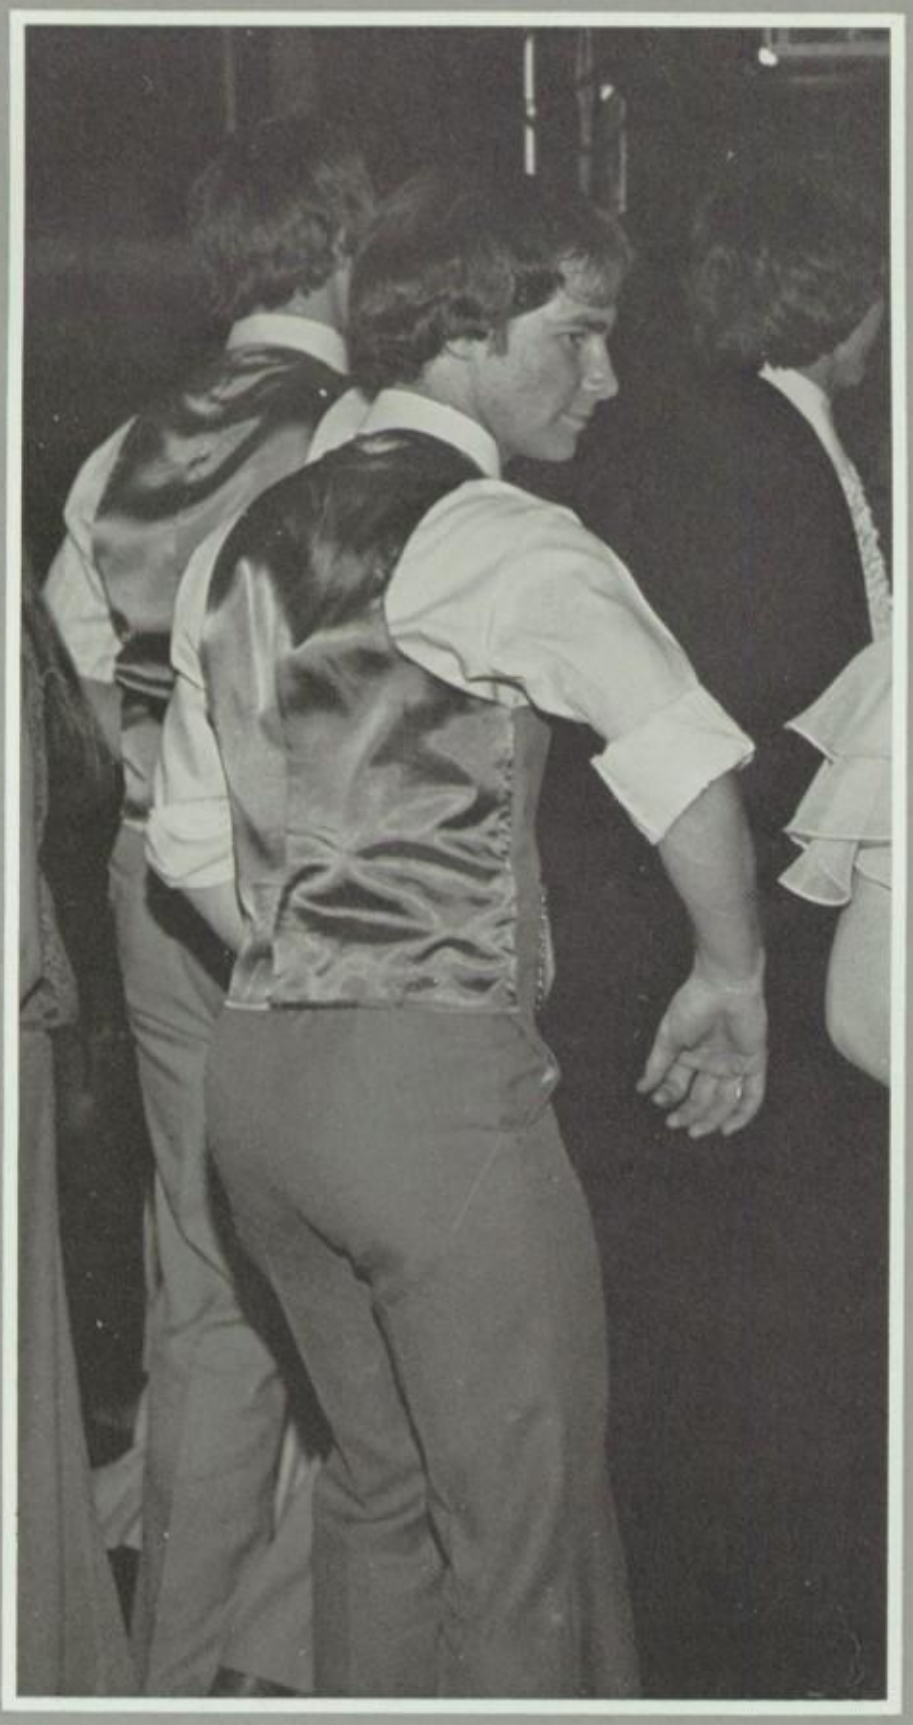
I knew they would catch me.

I've got static cling.

London Bridge is falling down

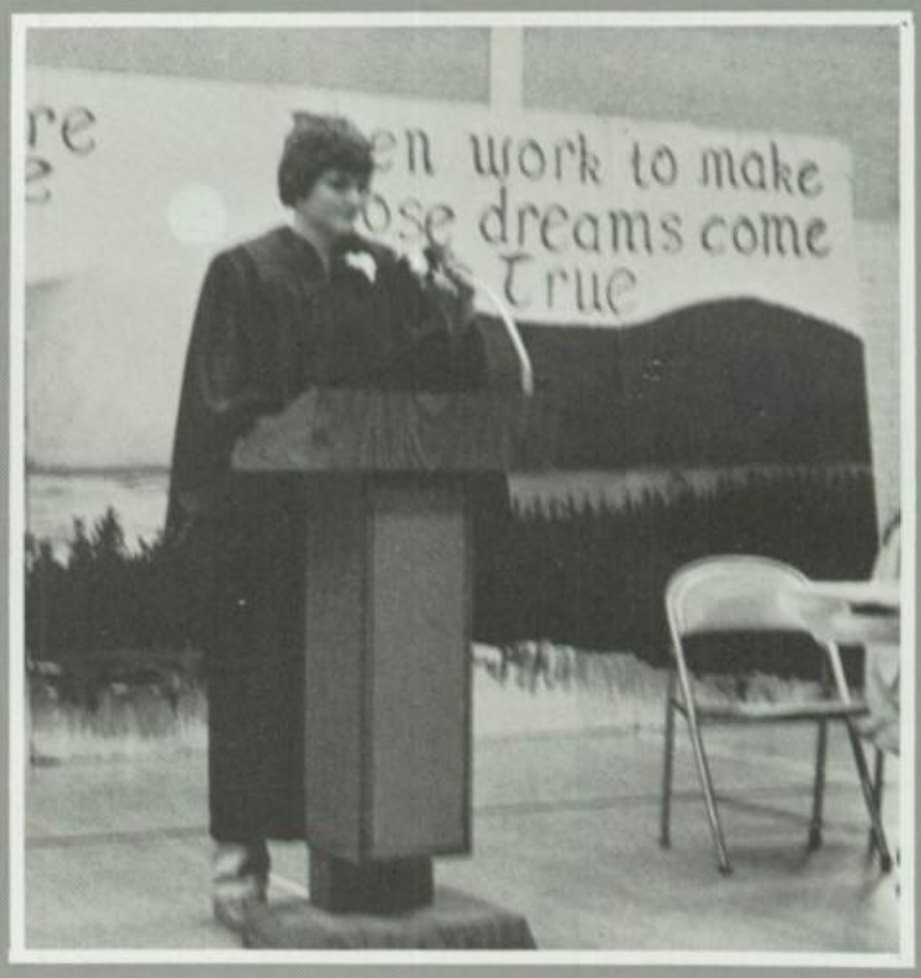
"Freebird"





If you love something, set it free,
if it comes back to you, it's yours.
If it doesn't, it never was.

Junior-Senior Banquet 1980



The 1980 Junior-Senior Banquet was held May 23. The Junior Class, represented by Nita Thelen and Mark Cook, read the prophecies. The theme of the prophecies was a ten-year reunion of the Senior Class at Pine Knob.

Reading the wills and representing the Senior Class were Judy Thelen, Daryl Feldpausch, Norma Fedewa, and Lorin Feldpausch. This was the last time the Juniors and Seniors were together as classes.

Enthusiasm and courage were the keys to all of this year's sports. We didn't always have a lot of brawn, power or experience, but we tried our best at all times. We take with us memories that time will never fade. Whether we made a touchdown, hit a home run, fumbled, struck out or cheered the team on, we were all a part. No matter what the scoreboard read, our spirit and determination earned us the respect of our opponents. It was 1980, a year for . . .

The Pirates had a good season under first year coaches Folk and Ghiardi. Although they had some injuries to a few starters, everyone pulled together and they finished third in the league with a record of 4 wins and 3 losses.

The Pirates had another good defense, shutting out two teams and letting only four teams over the ten point mark.

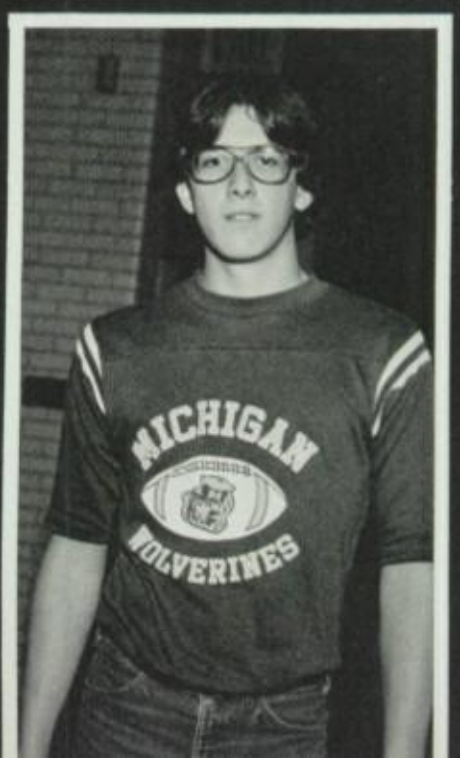
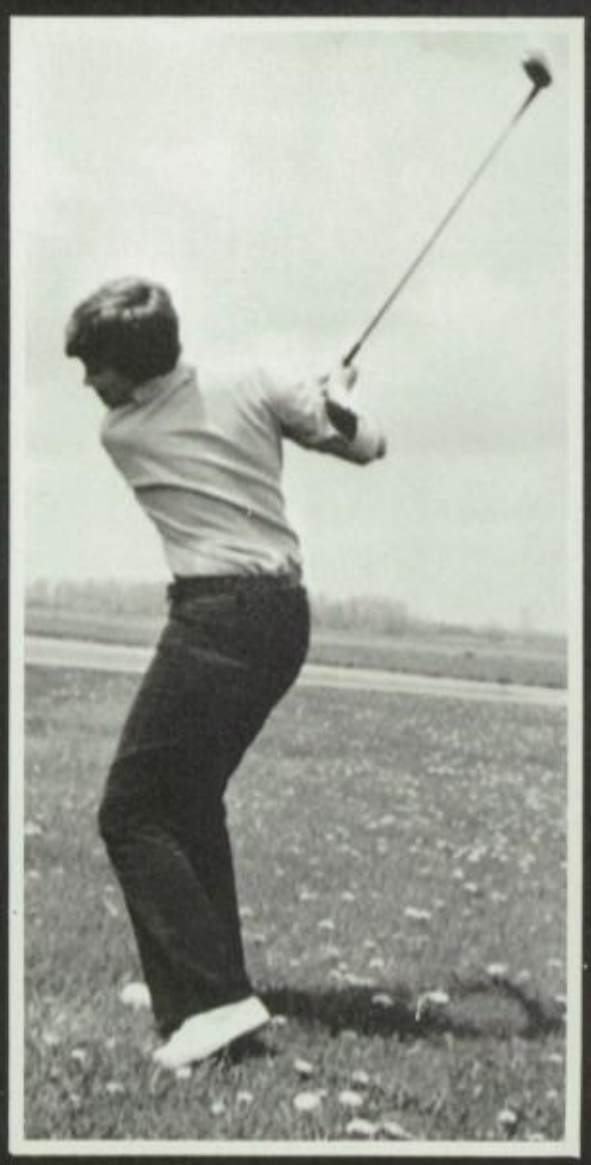
Senior Golfers — Dave Nurenberg, Mike Heiden





This year's golf team tied for second place in the league. Jeff Belen was selected to the first team CMAC and Dan Bengel to the second team. Jack Schafer and Mike Heiden received honorable mention.

Cross Country Finishes Second In CMAC

The cross country team started out very well but suffered a series of injuries to key lettermen Tom Smith, Tom Theis and Jeff Raines which prevented the team from winning league honors. Despite these setbacks, the Pirates stretched their three year winning streak to 30 straight dual meet victories and narrowly missed going to the State meet, finishing fifth in the regionals. Coach Ellis commented that before the injuries hit, his team was among the top five teams in Class C.

Injuries Slow

The girls' basketball team had no shortage of talent this season, just a lack of luck. An injury to center Judy Spitzley turned the Pirates from a very good team into just a good one, preventing them from finishing higher in the standings. In the districts, the Pirates upset Olivet, 34-32, but fell to favored Portland, 55-43. They ended the season with an 11-9 record.

Individual bright spots were Therese Simon and Gina Pline, who received second team honors and Judy Spitzley, who collected honorable mention, despite missing half the season.

Go Blue, Go Gold

Varsity cheerleaders stayed after school twice a week practicing cheers and preparing for assemblies. They woke up early several mornings to decorate players' lockers and to make a big breakfast for the team. A lot of work also went into getting ready for camp. Cheers and mounts weren't the only projects they had to work at, but also how to raise enough money for each person to go. To raise money, they sold candy at games, had bake sales and washed cars.

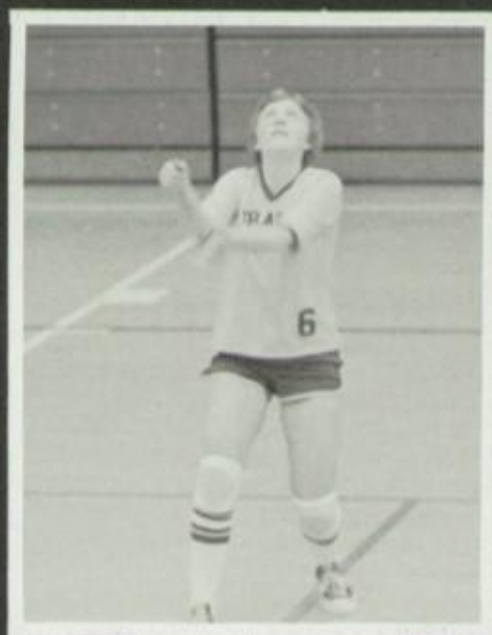
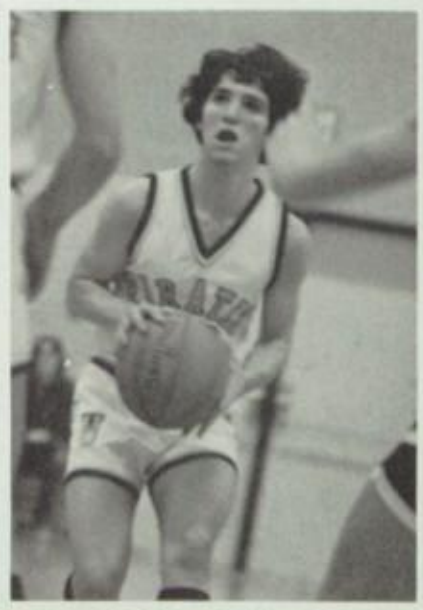
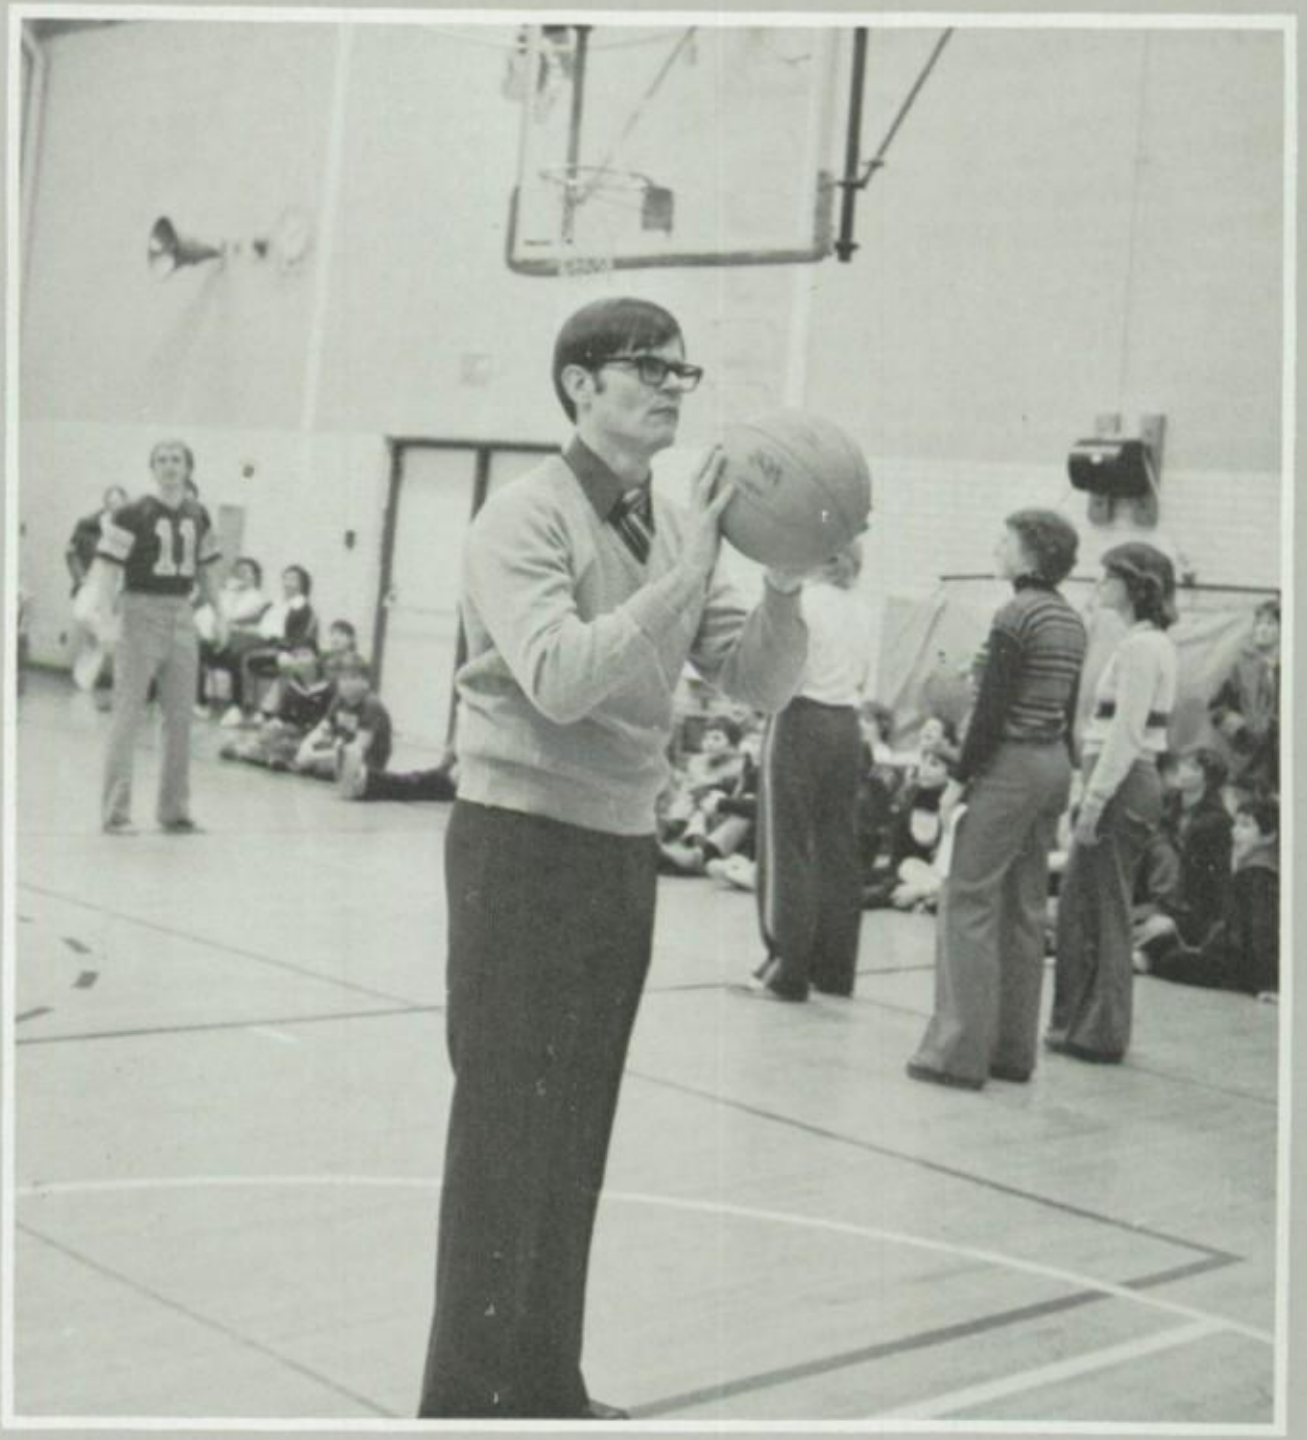
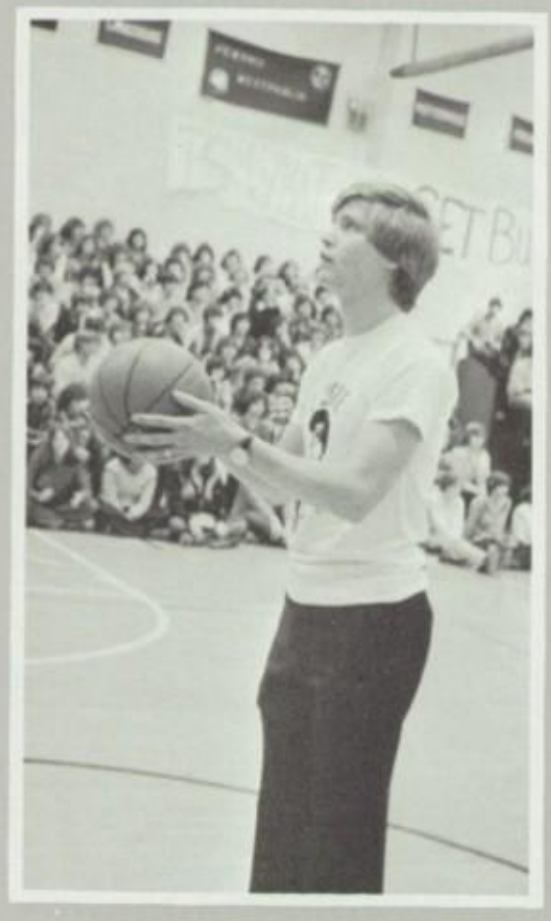
1980 — An Athletic Year





ROYALTY '79





1980

Every one of us was an individual. We each had our own beliefs, emotions and goals in life. But for a short space in time, we were one. All sharing a common bond of belonging to the same groups, achieving together, sticking up for each other. Sure, we had our disagreements and our off days. But as we look back, would the year have been as complete without the others around us? Each of us would be a little more shallow, a little less enriched. It was 1980, a year for

GROUPS

Marching Pirates Take A Bow

The Marching Band had a very successful season. They received excellent ratings during the course of the year including a 94.5 at the MSBOA Marching Festival. The band also attended the Holland Tulip Festival and received a I rating on all parts of the competition. These scores show their ingenuity and hard work.

During summer vacation the marching band attended band camp at Northwood Institute and used their facilities for their marching practices for one week. They returned home and marched at the Ionia Free Fair and continued practices for their marching season.

The Drum Majors were Donna Keilen and Linda Spitzley.

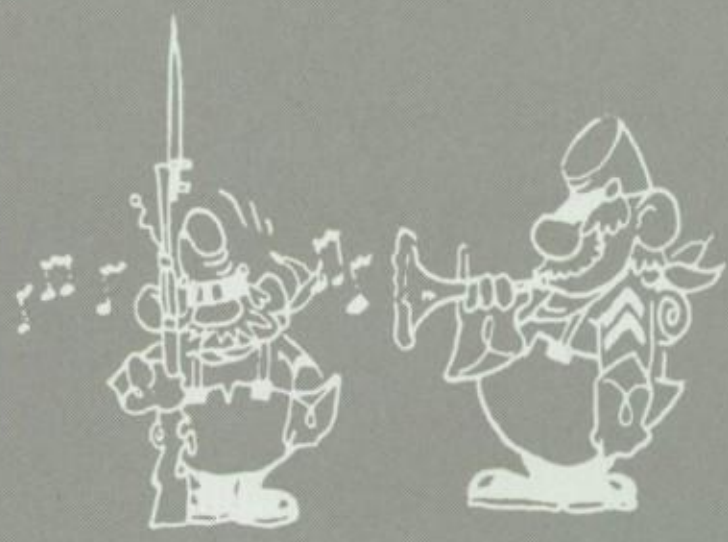
Ah one, Ah two, Ah three . . .

But if it were me . . .

The 1980 school year for the Jazz Band was full of excitement. They performed at many different activities such as the Christmas and spring concerts. They also performed for the German students.

They performed such music as "Mork and Mindy," "Superstar," and a song with years behind itself, "In the Mood."

The band liked to perform for the students, especially the elementary for whom they performed to finish off the school year.



Band Receives A One At District

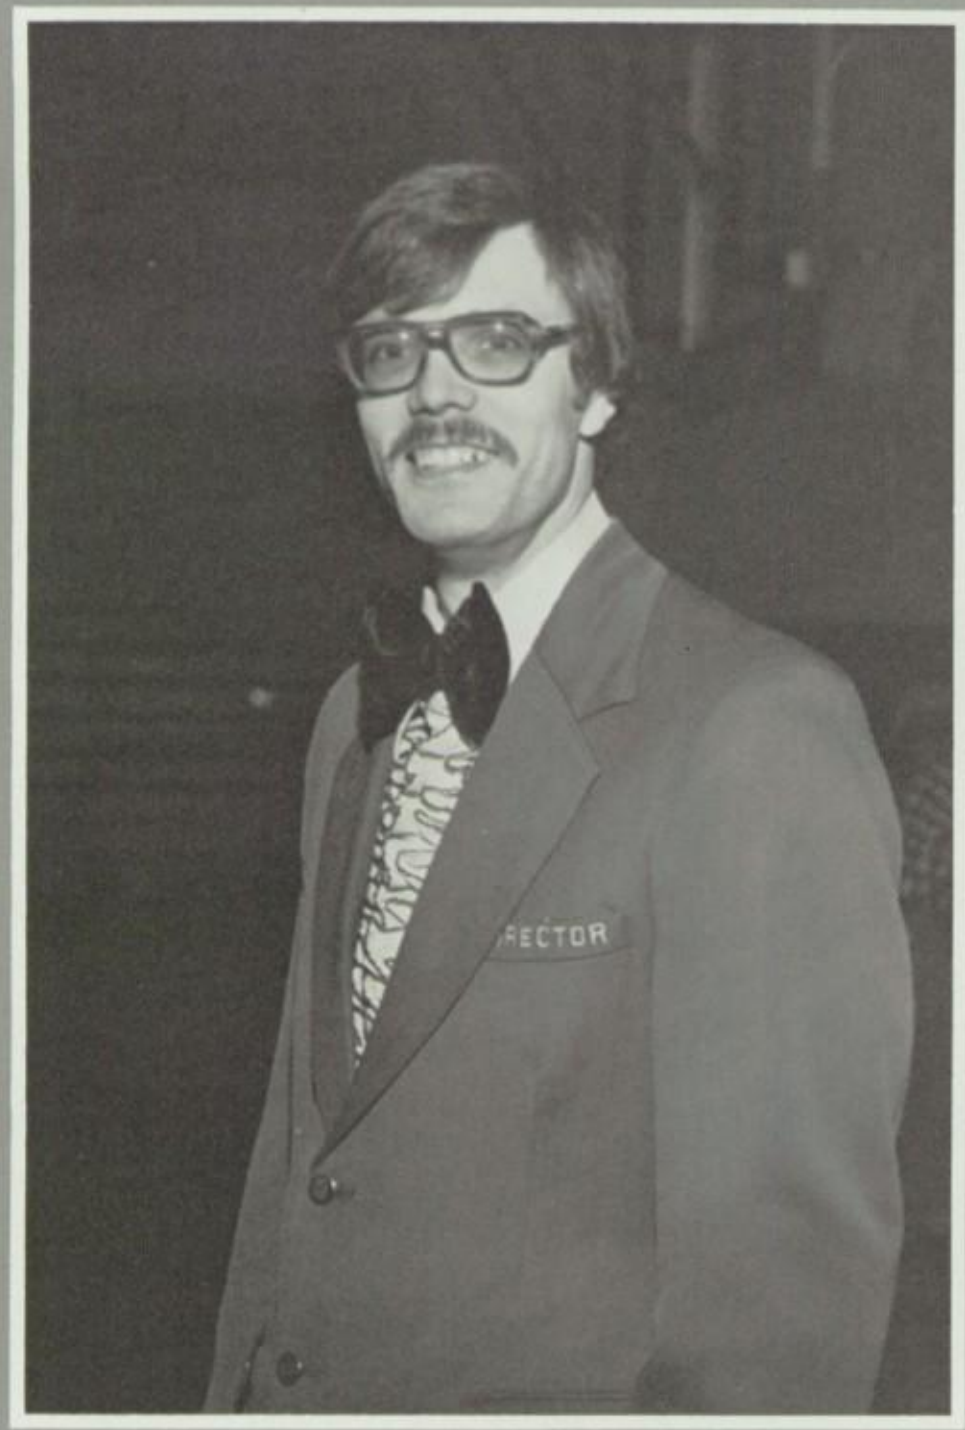
Where did the band disappear to?



Band Director: Mr. Ehrhardt

Clarinet Quintet: Patty Spencer, Marsha Smith, Linda Spitzley, Gina Pline, Laurie Platte.

The woodwind quintet and the brass quintet both received a first rating at the district Solo and Ensemble festival. Then both groups attended the State festival and the woodwind quintet received a first and the brass received a second rating.

Brass Quintet: Mark Cook, Kevin Lenneman, Francine Silvernail, Ellen Schueller, Ruth Hengesbach.

1979 Band Awards

John Phillip-Sousa Award

The John Phillip-Sousa Award was presented to Kevin Lenneman. This award was voted on by the students themselves. Every year all senior members of the band are up for this award.

Kevin's parents look on as he receives his award

The Concert Band had a good feeling of accomplishment after receiving a first division rating at the District Festival.

For the band that meant that they had to work even more to perfect the sound for State competition.

But as fate would have it the band received a very high two. But they came away with the feeling that they did the very best they could.

Besides the festival the band also performed at the Spring and Winter Concerts.

The band ended the year by holding the Band Banquet May 28 to honor deserving students who earned medals and various awards.

Color Guard Has Winning Season

Before their season started, the competition color guard performed at M.S.U. during half-time of the class A and C girls' basketball games. During the season's competitions, the team placed first in the class A division at Hemlock and Cassopolis. The team also spent a mid-season weekend at Central Michigan University for a color guard camp.

Front: Mary Lou Lenneman, Gail Smith, Ellen Schueller. Middle: Stephanie Atkinson, Lynn Golupski, Patti Fedewa, Lori Fedewa. Back: Mr. Mark Szyperski, Kara Lee Hanses, Laura Trierweiler, Connie Huhn, Jennie Hubler, Karen Schmitz, Lisa Schafer, Shirley Lenneman, Francine Silvernail, Chris Evans, Jackie Kolp.

New Director: Mrs. Henretty

During the 1980 school year, PAC presented the play, "Adrift in New York." The melodrama was performed at the Pewamo Elementary School on March 20, 21, and 22.

It was PAC's fifteenth play, but the first presentation under the direction of Mrs. Louise Henretty. With over 300 people attending, PAC was able to bring in over $800. After expenses were taken from this, PAC profited approximately $300, which was added to the Drama Club Fund. This fund helps pay for the next play's expenses such as costumes, make up and lighting.

Mrs. Henretty felt the 1980 PAC was one of the best groups she's ever worked with. She said, "With very little musical experience, the kids did a fantastic job."

Students Present 1890's Melodrama

"Adrift in New York" or "Her First False Step" was the melodrama presented by high school students this year. The play focused around an unscrupulous villain, luring a sweet, innocent girl to New York, in hopes of having his way with her. She is rescued from her fate by her childhood sweetheart, the hero of the play.

Although the practices got off on the wrong foot, by the time opening night came along the cast had its act together. Audience turnouts for each of the three performances were good, and many people came to see the play twice.

Future Homemakers Of America Better Their Community

First in the back row is vice-president Jenny Jenks. As vice-president, Jenny oversees the president and organizes meetings if the president can't attend. She was FHA Homecoming representative. Next are secretary Kim Bissell and treasurer Teresa Lawens. These girls helped with candy and bake sales and two mother-daughter banquets. On the end is president Liz Jenks. Liz also helped with the sales and banquets. She attended the state convention where she was a voting delegate. At convention Liz did an action event demonstration on healthy babies. She was a representative for Homecoming, too.

In front is Mary Nurenberg. She also went to the state convention and did a demonstration on family health. Next is Annette Weber, who worked on a display featuring National Nutrition month and organized the scrapbook. Pictured next are Janine Bower and Brenda Thelen. Janine and Brenda helped with the sales and the banquets.

Not pictured are Lisa Bissell and Robin Silvernail, who helped with fund raisers. Nancy Weber, who worked with Annette on the showcase and scrapbook, went to convention. Mary and she did their demonstration and took second place. Brenda Sturm went to convention, where she and Liz did their demonstration and also took second place. She too was a voting delegate and helped with the scrapbook. Brenda was reporter for FHA. In this job she wrote articles for the Pirate Log and Clinton County News on the group's activities. The girls in FHA helped the child development class with their nursery school, too.

Advisor Miss Diane Sinko guided and supervised FHA.

Journalism Does It Well

How do you like my new dentures?

She has to be so perfect.

The 1979-80 Journalism class enrolled many more students than last year. Although Miss Bogard said the class was too large, they compromised by distributing a paper with more content and new aspects, such as Bruce's editorials, Daryl's Classified Ads, and Jon's Believe It or Not.

The Pirate Log sold so well at lunch hours, that some were sold in Adgates.

Some of the profit the Pirate Log acquired was used in several different ways such as field trips to the State Journal, M.S.U. and a fifty dollar donation to the yearbook class.

Yearbooks Are Forever

Yearbook Class Means . . .

"Is anybody taking boy's basketball pictures tonight?"
"Think of a caption for this picture."
"We have a deadline coming up."
"What can we do for moneymakers?"
"Has anybody seen my football layout?"
"Hand me a pica ruler."
"We can't print that in the book."
"Did we get our pictures back yet?"
"Somebody get me a cropper."
"If you don't get that copy done, we'll never make this deadline."
"Do you have your interview done yet?"
"Party at Mrs. Huhn's — the yearbook's finished."

Does a certain picture, familiar face or final game score in your yearbook bring back old memories? The yearbook staff's job is to create a yearbook that will do just that . . . bring back memories in years to come.

Yearbook class involves conducting interviews, writing effective and interesting copy, designing page layouts, cropping pictures, meeting deadlines and raising money.

To raise money for the 1980 yearbook, the staff solicited ads, took yearbook orders, held a cake raffle and sold M & M's.

Editors for the 1980 yearbook were Marilyn Pline, Bonnie Rademacher and Jackie Simon.

Teachers kept their assistants busy by having them correct papers, type dittos, take attendance and having them run all kinds of errands.

To Help Out

Office Assistants — Front: Michelle Rademacher, Judy Thelen, Jane Heckman, Amy Schmitz, Barb Cvetnich. Back: Sue Pinkney, Debbie Smith, Julie Cook, Dorothy Thelen, Sue Nurenberg, Gwen Martin.

Office assistants learned how an office operates and they learned how to work with people.

Some of their everyday jobs included typing, picking up and registering roll, answering the phone, and other duties.

Helping the librarian as well as teachers and students was the purpose of the library assistants. Students did clerical work, assisted other students in finding books and checked out equipment to classrooms. Miss Kelly doubted the library could run without them.

In looking over the past year, we have seen many changes. New ideas and different feelings, events and people made 1980 a unique and memorable year.

Getting to know ourselves, catching up on studies, special occasions, physical expression, making friends, rare moments and showing Pirate spirit were all a part of it.

Even though this marks the ending of another school year, the special times and people will long be remembered. It was 1980, a year for . . .

Memories

The staff would like to thank the following people for all their time and efforts: Mike Lafferty of Josten's Yearbook Co., Steve Fuller of Dehn's Studio, the administration and staff at P-W, the student body and the businesses who bought ads.

A special thank you goes to Mrs. Huhn for her patience and hard work.

Without the consideration, time and support of our local merchants, this yearbook wouldn't be possible. The money earned from soliciting ads covered over half of the total expense needed to complete the annual.

Whether they were patrons, lawyers, doctors, electricians, merchants or builders, they all played an important part as our supportive community. With this, we'd like to pay a special Thank You to all who participated in making our yearbook a success. It was 1980 — a year for . . .
